Chamber of Commerce Ties Employment to PHS Business Courses

They were going to give a course at Princeton High next year called "Introduction to Vocations."

It would have given kids a chance to explore various career fields like business, home ec., health services, industrial arts, mechanical contracting, transportation and so on.

But it won't be given.

"Not enough students signed up. Only six," is the laconic explanation of Richard E. Berger, chairman of the PHS Business Education Department.

"The high school should offer business courses even if only six people sign up," is the flat reply of Nicholas Carnevale, president of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce. "Introduction to Vocation courses can be very exciting for the student, especially if real jobs can be offered, and there ARE real jobs here in the Princeton community.

X-ray technicians, insurance underwriters, junior draftsmen and above all, high-level secretaries are in demand, Mr. Carnevale and the Chamber say, and the Chamber's president adds, "Princeton High just isn't producing the product."

Mr. Carnevale acknowledges the academic orientation of the high school to its academically-oriented community and the influence of the University, but he says firmly,

"Princeton High is still thinking in terms of the '30s and '40s. They aren't projecting to the 'outer crust' of enterprises around Princeton, to the industrial and commercial and research organizations. These labs and plants need boiler operators, lab technicians — people like that. There are business firms and research organizations in this area — and I emphasize area — with standing requests for help that just can't be filled."

Mr. Carnevale says he conferred with officials in half-a-dozen stores and firms who told him they are paying more than companies outside the Princeton area for comparable jobs. Mr. Carnevale said he was referring to jobs in the $7-8,000 a year bracket. Salaries in the Princeton area are 10-20% higher in that range, he said.

"They say young people don't stay in Princeton because housing is scant," he continues, "but in the $7-$8,000 salary level, maybe they could find housing. The important thing is to train these kids. Companies have to get outside, from Hightstown or Trenton, where kids do take vocational training. I say, why not train Princeton kids, and hire THEM?"

At last month's school board agenda meeting, Mr. Carnevale talked about "1,000 jobs," and people at the meeting pounced on that figure and said, in effect, "where are they?"

"Yes, I do mean One Thousand jobs," he says. "That doesn't mean all of them are open: it means available jobs, more often than not filled by young people who didn't come from the Princeton area."

The Chamber and Mr. Carnevale think the high school ought to give its vocational courses the hard-sell treatment. "You can't sell kids a course just by putting it in

Council to Seek Expanded Police Committee

A vociferous audience of about 100, consisting largely of police officers from various Mercer County communities, heard Borough Council vote 4-2 Tuesday night to introduce the ordinance adding three voting citizen members to the Police Committee. Public hearing will be held Tuesday, June 13, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

Officers of the Mercer County police organization promised court action against the Borough if the measure is adopted, and Thomas Murphy of the Trenton PBA, chairman of the Mercer County Council, warned that "the County Council will take every means necessary to stop this ordinance."

"Yes" votes to introduce the ordinance were cast by Councilmen Joseph P. Moore, Charles Cornforth, Arthur P. Morgan and Martin P. Lombardo. "No" votes came from Councilmen Robert Hendry and Thomas J. Cawley.

Voting followed a two-hour public hearing and a half-hour recess while Council caucused in executive session. When Councilmen emerged from their deliberations, the ordinance was formally introduced.

Then five amendments were proposed. All of them were voted down and three of them didn't even earn a "second."

Mr. Lombardo wanted two police officers named as voting members of Police Committee. Nobody seconded his proposal.

Other Suggestions. Mr. Hendry proposed removing police discipline powers from the Police Committee and making additional members advisory only. Thomas Cawley seconded that proposal, but only he and Mr. Hendry voted "or it."

Mr. Cornforth offered three amendments. One would have referred all police discipline matters to mayor and Council as a whole. No second. Next, he proposed adding to the Police Committee the three members of Council not presently on the Committee. There were no takers for that one, either. For his third and last try, he suggested a one-year trial period for the expanded Police Committee. Mr. Morgan joined him on that one, but nobody else did.

"I think this measure will be positive, and I think it's worth a try," Mayor Robert W. Cawley told the assembled policemen.

Mayor Favors. Earlier in the evening, he had repeated a previous promise that if the measure passes, he will appoint two black citizen members and probably a youth as the three voting members. The ordinance itself does not specify who the three new members shall be. All will serve one-year terms on the Committee.

Trenton's Mr. Murphy reminded Council that the Borough has called on out-of-town police at various times, and he threatened, "There may not be any more County police coming here if this passes. And we have several plans we will put into effect if this measure goes through."

"I hadn't yet decided which way I was going to vote," retorted Mr. Cornforth, "but I am appalled at your implication that we may have a problem getting other police to help us—that's not in line with the PBA job you were elected to."

Mr. Cornforth and Mr. Murphy traded jabs for a time, mostly over professionalism, and the role of the chief of police. Mr. Murphy declared that people "with no knowledge of police matters should not have voting power—it rankles with us and makes us angry."

Mr. Cornforth reminded him that present Councilmen on the Police Committee are themselves "civilians"—a frequent argument heard during the hearing—and to Mr. Murphy's repeated charges that the new measure downgrades the chief, Mr. Cornforth, backed up by Mayor Cawley, informed him that the chief has no voting powers on the Police Committee even now, so that the enlarged Committee makes no change in that area.

Police Spokesman. For Princeton police, the spokesman was Bernard Lenhardt, president of the PBA, who said County and State police organizations believe Princeton Borough's action may set a precedent.

Borough police feel, he continued, that the new open and public meetings of the Police Committee offers the best way to break new ground in police-community relations.

"We are willing to work with any group, but the police must have some kind of 'say,'" Mr. Lenhardt said.

Midway in the hearing, Mayor Cawley asked why police were so upset, and he queried them as to exactly what they were afraid would happen under the new ordinance.

"This issue has been exaggerated," Mayor Cawley told the officers. "Here in the Borough, we feel that some citizens lack trust in the police. They feel there is unequal justice for blacks and youth. And police do sometimes act in ways that are offensive—they know that, too."

"If citizens can participate on this Committee, they will learn the provocations police have to face, and will see the generally fine way police respond. They will also point out to police how police actions are perceived. I expect relations to be improved—the last thing we want to do is harm the police."

Empty Threat. "Civilian review" is a "scare word," said Max Blumenfeld, chairman of the Joint Civil Rights Commission. Previously Mark Jones, Library Place, had said, to police applause, "If this is the best the Civil Rights Commission can come up with, let's get rid of them."

Mr. Blumenfeld said it was "degrading" to assume that all three appointed citizens will vote in a block against the police.

One by one, Councilmen spoke their minds about the ordinance. Mr. Moore told police in the audience they were "drowning in their own bigotry," and he conceded, "I am a victim of bigotry, too. I suggest you examine your attitudes."

Thomas Cawley suggested, with Mr. Lenhardt, that more open communications could be achieved through public Police Committee meetings and he proposed the police chief as a Committee member.

Referendum Urged. Mr. Hendry repeated his opposition to the ordinance because "it singles out one group above others in the governmental process, and delegates administrative powers to non-elected citizens."

Once again, he called for a referendum. He also proposed a police-judicial review committee, appointed from Borough, Township and University communities.

In other action during the long meeting, Council heard Mr. Lombardo announce that he has filed formal complaint with the Civil Rights Commission over a February incident involving suspension of basketball teams. He has demanded thorough Civil Rights Commission investigation of all Borough and Borough-Township agencies, their rules, guidelines, procedures and priorities, he said.

He had brought to Council several members of the basketball league who supported his action. One asked improved basketball facilities in municipal recreation, and told Council "there isn't one decent Little League playing field—it's like a cow-pasture."

Mayor Cawley suggested the youths take their problems to the Recreation Commission.

Council thumbed over a proposed anti-noise ordinance, prepared as a result of work by a citizen committee. No action.

An abandoned car ordinance was tabled for more work on details.

Locations of New Outside Telephones

Six new pay telephones will be installed on Borough streets between now and mid-June, in addition to the five now ready and waiting to ring. The five stalls now operating are:

- North Harrison, near the Firehouse.
- Hulfish Street, at the Playhouse parking-lot shed.
- In front of the Bell Telephone building, Nassau near Chestnut.

Six additional telephones in stalls will be located as follows, installation beginning next Monday:

- Nassau and Harrison, near the Bowers Building.
- Nassau and Moore at St. Paul's Church.
- Nassau and Vandeventer at Garden Theatre.
- Nassau bus-stop, across from Witherspoon.
- Witherspoon at Gale Cleaners, opposite Hulfish.
- Post-Office green, Palmer Square.

Booths, as distinct from the new stalls, are on Witherspoon between Lytle and Maclean, at Deuce Records, and in the Borough Hall lobby.

The new stalls double as emergency phones. Anyone who doesn't have a coin, may lift the receiver, listen for the dial tone and then dial "operator," giving instructions for completing the call.

A caller who wants help from police or fire department should tell the operator to call "Princeton Borough Police." Operators are in Trenton, and must be told the call is for Princeton.

PHS Business Courses

"Academic students preparing for college, for example," he begins. "Maybe they could use clerical or typing courses. Some of the smaller research firms here—they can't afford a large staff and they need well-rounded people. A kid with good business education background at Princeton High, plus college, could fit into a law firm, a bank. I don't see why more college-bound kids couldn't benefit from those courses—and the business community here would, too."

"We do, of course, get some kids like these in the business community—Princeton, as a town, sometimes requires a B. A. just for a receptionist—but I say again, there just aren't enough."

Another who believes in the harder sell is Mrs. Barbara Silverstein, whose PHS course in "Distributive Education" was almost dropped from next year's curriculum for budgetary reasons. It has been retained, but it will operate out of the Industrial Arts department, rather than the Business Education department.

This year, 32 PHS students have been in "Distributive Education", learning how to work in the retail, wholesale, service industries. They work in Princeton laundries and cleaning establishments, in department stores and shoe-repair shops.

"We haven't enough kids to go around—never any trouble placing them," Mrs. Silverstein declares. "What I'd like to do, is enroll the kids who have to work after school or on Saturdays to earn money. I see them around town—clerking in stores, working here and there."

"If they would take this Distributive Ed. course they would benefit, and so would Princeton business firms. Because we train the student in salesmanship techniques, advertising, how to dress a window, public relations. The kind of thing that can put a student eventually into a management-training program."

One student who graduated from Distributive Ed. last year worked in a large Princeton retail store helping the window-dresser. He has a knack for art, and now he's in art school learning the fine points of window-dressing and looking forward to a good career.

"The Middle Student." "It's that middle student," Mrs. Silverstein emphasizes. "If we could just beat it into parents' heads that not every kid should go to college!"

"Able students from our course have stayed in Princeton with good jobs. One started with a cleaning establishment, then learned how to do upholstery-drapery cleaning in the home. You could say he went from Distributive Ed. to an industrial kind of work, and I'd like to see more of that in the high school. We need a Work Experience team, so that students could easily shift their schedules from say, office-occupational courses to industrial courses."

The Business Education department currently has about 175 students, enrolled for the three-year course. Of these, 50 are in general clerical skills, 35 in accounting, 40 in secretarial skills and 50 in data processing. The number is fewer than in previous years and dwindles as the sending districts leave, Mr. Borger says.

For the first time this year, PHS has had computer programming. The course has 14 students, but no computer. The teacher, William Bux, has access to a computer at Rider College and uses that.

Perhaps it's significant that next year's new course will be one in how to type a term paper, a course with an obvious academic orientation, rather than a business one.

"Office Occupations" is a voluntary work-study program for seniors. They take courses for half a day, then work out in the town. At present, there are 10 students working in 10 Princeton firms.

Incidentally, Mr. Carnevale says he didn't know the Office Occupations program existed, and he thinks other Chamber business firms aren't aware of it either. Mr. Carnevale is an owner of the Walter

B. Howe insurance and real-estate agency.

Juniors, Working Also. "If we can't fill all our job requests with seniors, we dip into the juniors, or maybe turn to juniors in the typing class—people who aren't planning to follow full-time business careers," Mr. Borger says. "We could have filled half a dozen more jobs if we'd had the students. I think we need to work more closely with our high school Guidance Department, to get the cooperation of counselors in steering interested kids into our program."

Another town and school program is Trade and Industry, operating out of the high school's Industrial Arts program under Richard Wood.

Industrial Arts as a whole, has 375 students and T. & I. has 52. These students work-learn as auto mechanics, at RCA labs doing computer surveying or instrument repair, at Borough police headquarters learning what a police officer's job is like, with a tree surgeon or in a small electronics firm learning circuitry. The last named student is a girl. Most T. & I. enrollees are boys.

Industrial Arts works in a different commercial world from Business Education and faces a different problem:

Trouble This Year. "We've had trouble placing our students this year," Mr. Wood says. "In other years, we've been able to place boys in construction as carpenters, or as plumbers, but not this year, although one boy is going with a local plumbing firm."

New next year for Industrial Arts will be "Graphics Communication," funded with $8,300 in state money, matched by the school system. So far, 14 have signed up and there will be more as Middle School youngsters learn about the program.

Space inhibits new programs for Industrial Arts. Much of the area was built in '29 and there isn't even enough room in Auto Mechanics for a "job shop," where students could do a muffler or a brake job on a car.

Although he regrets the lack of space, Mr. Wood thinks the role of his department is less to give vocational training in depth, than to let a kid try and see what he likes. Then, if he's sure he wants a career, as carpenter or whatever, he can turn to Mercer County's vocational facilities for deeper, professional training.

Whether the solution to some of these vocational problems lies in closer work between town and gown, is a question. Mr. Carnevale says the Chamber has made suggestions to the school board, but he would like to see closer liaison and "more board receptivity to businessmen's proposals."

STUDENTS DEMONSTRATE
After Nixon Speech. Some 200 Princeton University students demonstrated on the grounds of Morven Monday night, after President Nixon announced that he would mine the ports of North Vietnam. Governor Cahill was not there, however.

Police said that the demonstration lasted about 15 minutes, was orderly and there were no arrests. Lt. Michael Carnevale reported that the Borough had 15 men on the grounds, assisted by State Police. He added that he would not be surprised if there were future demonstrations.

From Morven, the group headed down Nassau Street to Washington Road to the university's ROTC building where it made a brief stop. It proceeded on to U.S. 1 where a few attempted to block the highway but were restrained by West Windsor police.

West Windsor police arrested two students for assault and battery of one of their officers. The pair were later released in $100 bail each and face a hearing Tuesday in West Windsor Court. Police identified them as Mark S. Triebetz, 18, and Theodore J. Priester, 21.

Responding to a call from the West Windsor police for aid, the Borough sent out two patrol cars with 10 men, but they were not needed. Lt. Carnevale reported that the group then began to break up and head back to Princeton. When the students reached Washington Road, they dispersed, he said. "By that time, they were quite wet."

APOLOGIES TO AIDES

From PREA. The Princeton Regional Education Association (PREA), the teachers' organization, released this week the text of a letter sent to Mrs. Anne Thomas, head of the Aides Organization in the Princeton schools.

The letter gives PREA's explanation for a paragraph on school aides in an advertisement which appeared April 20 in Town Topics.

The ad asked whether aides are "supposed to be a supplement to teachers or a substitute for teachers," and stated in one section, "What assurance can the school board give that it does not intend to dismiss qualified teachers and instead leave classes of children poorly supervised under the direction of aides?"

"The intent of the questions," says the PREA letter to Mrs. Thomas, "was to ask what (the school board's) intentions were for the next year and did not refer to practices currently in effect in the Princeton Regional Schools."

"We did not mean to imply that children under the direction of aides were poorly supervised at present. We are sorry if the wording of these questions has caused a problem within your organization."

Thursday after being closed for eight days as the result of vandalism.

Vandals broke into the one-building school April 30 and flooded the floor by leaving faucets turned on all night. A kitchen floor had to be replaced. A plaster board ceiling also had been replaced when the vandals let upstairs toilet overflow. In addition, they overturned books and files and shot off fire extinguishers.

West Windsor police have made no arrests.

The incident took place the night after a successful "Belated Vernal Equinox" celebration held at the school. Earnings from several booths, puppet shows and auctions were wiped out as a result.

A spokesman for the school said that it was the first incident of trouble the school, now in its second year, had encountered. "I guess we've been lucky so far," she said. About 50 students attend the school.

She was unable to offer any estimate of the property damage.

MAN, YOUTH CHARGED

In Dormitory Theft. A 20-year-old and a 17-year-old juvenile, both from Trenton, have been charged with breaking and entering and larceny and possession of stolen property in connection with a $200 stereo set stolen Sunday from Walker Hall on the Princeton University campus.

John Shoats and the juvenile were picked up at 1:48 in the morning in a university parking lot by two university proctors and turned over to the Township police. The latter charged them with possession of stolen property.

Because Walker Hall is located in the Borough — the parking lot is in the Township — the pair were next turned over to Borough police and charged, by Ptl. Arthur Jackson, with breaking and entering and larceny.

Shoats was later released when he posted $500 bail; the juvenile was released to his father. Both are scheduled to appear for a court hearing May 17.

Police report that the two were seen running off with the stereo set by two students who notified the proctors.

The most recent in a long line of those charged with shoplifting at the store is Joyce Coshy, 19, a Princeton University student.

She was arrested Friday afternoon by Ptl. Jackson. Police said that the articles she allegedly shoplifted were valued at under $2.

TWO WOMEN ASSAULTED

On Campus in Daylight. Borough police have charged a 26-year-old resident of Iran engaged in research at Princeton University with assaulting two women early last week on the University campus in separate attacks.

Fayegh Djadali was arrested Monday in Jadwin Hall by University proctors and Township police and turned over to Borough police. Detective Robert McAvonia, conducting the investigation, charged Djadali with assault and battery. He was later released in his own recognizance to await a hearing May 17 in Borough court.

According to Lt. Michael Carnevale, Djadali first grabbed a 25-year-old University employee of between 9 and 9:30 last Monday morning in front of Fine Hall. The victim's left side was injured in the assault Lt. Carnevale said. She was incapacitated for a week.

The next morning at 11:30, Djadali allegedly grabbed from behind an 18-year-old university coed near Little Hall. She was not injured. No money was taken from either woman, Lt. Carnevale reported. He declined to reveal their names.

On Monday, one of the victims, he said, observed the suspect. Her call to the police led to his arrest.

have taken place over a long period of time.

Thursday afternoon, Sgt. Arthur Gallant, on a stakeout, arrested George R. Brooks, 27, of Trenton, after he had reportedly broken into one of the locked refrigerators in the school's kitchen. Brooks, an employee of the Trenton Window Cleaning Co., was charged with larceny and later released in his own recognizance. He is scheduled to appear in Borough Court on Wednesday.

NEW SERGEANT NAMED

He's Thomas Procaccino. Thomas J. Procaccino, for the past three and one-half years the Borough's juvenile officer, has been named the new sergeant on the Borough force. A 12-year veteran, he fills the opening created when Sgt. Theodore Lewis was named lieutenant.

Sgt. Procaccino was chosen by the Police Committee from among 14 other patrolmen who took the test. Included was a written examination given by the State Police, each man's service record and an oral interview before the Police Committee.

A lifelong resident of Princeton and a graduate of Princeton High School, Procaccino, 36, lives at 19 Erdman Avenue. He will leave the juvenile bureau and go on uniform duty in charge of a four-man squad. Other squad sergeants are John J. Bellow, Robert Anderson and Ralph Procaccino, a relative of the new sergeant.

In 1971, the Princeton Jaycees named Sgt. Procaccino as their Outstanding Young Man for his work with young juvenile offenders. Lt. Michael Carnevale, who will become Chief August 1, reported that he would name a new juvenile officer soon.

THREE FACE HEARING

In Alcohol Violations. Two teenage boys and the owner of a liquor store face hearings in Borough Court on Wednesday after being charged by Borough police with alcohol violations.

John Weber, 19, 108 Parkside Drive, and Michael P. Lieggi, 18, 176 Bayard Lane, have been charged as minors in possession of alcohol. They were arrested Saturday night at 9:40 on Lytle Street near Tash's Liquor Store by Ptl. Ronald Holliday and Ptl. David Lewis.

The owner of the store, Grover C. Tash Jr., 33½ Lytle, was issued a complaint warrant charging him with selling alcohol to a minor. He was later released in his own recognizance.

According to Lt. Michael Carnevale, the two officers observed the youths in the liquor store and arrested them as they left. They had allegedly purchased beer there.

COUPLE IS INJURED

In Motorcycle Accident. A Princeton couple sustained minor injuries Sunday when their motorcycle ran into the rear of a car turning off Princeton-Kingston Road onto Dodds Lane.

Earl D. Sykes, 30, of Princeton RD 4, received a laceration.

tion of the right elbow. Janie M. Sykes, 28, suffered contusions and abrasions of the right knee and left foot. She was treated at the Princeton Medical Center.

Ptl. Mario Musso ticketed Mr. Sykes for following too closely behind a car operated by Craig Carlton, 17, 21 Caldwell Drive. The mishap occurred at 8:16 p.m.

Car Snaps Pole. Early last week, Raymond N. Grover, 57, 33 Chestnut Avenue, received 19 sutures at the Medical Center for a laceration of his lip he received when his station wagon struck a utility pole on Hodge Road, breaking it in half.

Mr. Grover told police he swerved to the right to avoid hitting a dog and "caught the pole." He walked from the scene — 250 feet east of Library Place — to Borough headquarters to report the 5 a.m. accident. Ptl. Ronald Holliday issued him a summons for careless driving.

Leung Lee, 43, 1028 Mercer Road, and Robert D. Ellis, 20, 79 Leavitt Lane, were fined $30 and $29 for speeding. Kim A. Coleman, 18, South Mill Road, Princeton Junction, paid $30 for careless driving. In addition, his license was revoked for 30 days.

Craig A. MacCambridge, 18, 9 Ziff Lane, Princeton Junction, paid two fines: $15 for an unregistered vehicle and $15 for using fictitious plates. Sandra L. Saxema, 24, 6 Wallingford Drive, was fined $10 for operating a car without a registration and $5 for passing on the right.

Others: Thomas S. Bonthron, 20, The Great Road, $15, careless driving; Francis A. Mangione, 21, 40 Jefferson Road, $15, no light on license plate; Nancy G. Manning, 38, 117 Leabrook Lane, $12, one way violation; David F. Kaufman, 25, 492 Prospect Avenue, $12,

They are Roger Wertheimer, 30, 144 Grover Avenue, unregistered vehicle; Edward J. Bergman, 29, 131 Laurel Road, and Herbert Williams, 58, 218 Birch Avenue — both for failing to yield after stopping for a stop sign.

MEETING TUESDAY

Of Recreation Board. The Princeton Recreation Board will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday evening at 8:15 in Township Hall. It is open to the public.

The condition of the ball fields at Community Park, a competitive swim program and the need to replace sliding glass doors at the pool complex with tempered glass to comply with a change in the safety code will be among the topics discussed in the public session.

In executive session, the board will discuss the findings of a community-wide recreation survey compiled by Opinion Research Corporation and the development of the south side of Community Park. Plans by the board to add basketball, handball, basketball and two new paddle tennis courts have been approved by Council and Committee. Before the board can start sending out bids, however, it has to appear before the Regional Planning Board and Site Review Committee.

PDS RECEIVES $50,000

For Scholarships. Princeton Day School has received a five-year grant of $50,000 for scholarship purposes from Independence Foundation, a Philadelphia-based philanthropic fund.

The grant, to be made in annual $10,000 installments beginning with the 1972-73 school year, will be used to provide financial aid to students in grades nine through twelve.

PDS was one of 55 independent schools, 38 of them day schools, to share in the total $2.5 million grant. Special merit was given in the selection process to schools which actively seek to provide opportunity for able but disadvantaged children of minority groups from restricted urban areas and to suburban day schools which use scholarship funds to extend education opportunities.

"We are delighted with the grant and with the recognition it gives Princeton Day School," said Douglas O. McClure, headmaster. "More than that we are delighted with the opportunity the grant affords us to extend our financial aid program — one we consider vital to the school."

Fifteen percent of the school's enrollment of 808 now receive some amount of financial aid, either in full or partial scholarships. PDS has recently embarked on a development program seeking $1.5 million in capital funds to endow the scholarship program.

DAILY EVENTS PLANNED

For Nursing Home Week. Princeton Nursing Home, 35 Quarry Street, will hold an open house from 2 to 4 this Sunday marking the onset of National Nursing Home Week. The community is invited to attend the special programs and entertainments to be held on Sunday and throughout the week, Roger L. Wardlow, director, has announced.

On Sunday, there will be an art exhibition on the main floor, focusing on the work of Rex Goreleigh and his students. The paintings will be on view all week. Soroptimists, led by Mrs. Robert Nelson, will give their monthly party for patients at the home. There will be guides for tours and refreshments.

Programs scheduled for 2 to 4 during the week are: Monday — a folk singing group of young people will entertain in the main lounge. Richard Broad is director. On Tuesday, there will be a sing-along with Dr. James Quay. Career Day is Wednesday, May 17, and those interested in the health field are invited to hear discussions by the Princeton Nursing Home personnel.

Next Thursday, May 18, the Princeton University Tiger Claws are scheduled to sing between twelve and 1 p.m. The group is composed of members of the office staff at Princeton University. In the early evening, a women's barbershop quartet, "The Opposite Sex tel," will sing.

Volunteer Day will be ob-

Time to Recycle Again in Township

This coming Monday will mark the beginning of the second week of Township's Recyclable Program carried out by the Rescue Mission under a free six-month trial program.

The first week was pronounced a resounding success by the Conservation Commission. In spite of rainy weather and a few misunderstandings, the Rescue Mission collected 14 tons of newspapers and 4 1/2 tons of glass. The response was so heavy that a second truck will be added to the route.

Recyclables to be collected are: newspapers and magazines, tied in separate bundles; clear glass and colored glass, in separate containers, cleaned with metal rings and caps removed. Paper labels may be left on.

Township Engineer Joseph Hodak urges all residents participating in the program to have their recyclables at the curbside prior to 9 a.m. Also, some residents are not removing metal bands from bottles.

Pick-up has been divided by Election Districts: Monday, Districts 2, 3, 9; Tuesday, Districts 5, 10; Wednesday, Districts 1, 4; Thursday, Districts 6, 7; and Friday, Districts 8, 11.

served on Saturday, May 20, when the patients at the nursing home will give a party at 2 p.m. for volunteers. Past, present and prospective volunteers are invited. An award will be made to an outstanding volunteer in the Princeton community. A guitar group will provide entertainment.

Mrs. Constantina Crusade of the Princeton Nursing Home staff and Mrs. Arthur Gorman are co-chairmen of volunteers. They said last week that the patients in the nursing home are in need of one-to-one relationships with volunteers from the community. The hope is that the events of nursing Home Week will break the ice for friendships.

DONATIONS SOUGHT

By Fete Auction Committee. The auction committee of the Princeton Hospital Fete (June 10) wants what you don't.

There are captains and solicitors in every neighborhood who will pick up that item tucked away in the attic or cellar. Antiques, fine china, porcelain, silver, good used furniture, and sports equipment top the list of requested items. In fact, anything that is in good condition and would be attractive to buyers is needed. Appliances and TV sets, however, are not wanted unless they are new.

Smaller items may be picked up by a solicitor; larger articles will be picked up if either a solicitor is called or Mrs. W. T. Lifland, 921 2934.

Mrs. Thomas H. Pame and Mrs. James C. Stretch, co-chairmen of the auction committee, report that many articles have already been donated but many more are needed. One donation, a 1966 Oldsmobile in good running condition, will be among the merchandise auctioned off.

Auction items will be exhibited the day before the Fete in the auction tent. Sealed bids will be accepted. Donations will be accepted until the day before the Fete.

GRAPHICS SALE PLANNED

For Mother's Day, Graphics celebrating childhood, and a special Mother's Day poster will be on sale this Sunday from 2-5 p.m. at the Fund for Peace Education, 163 Nassau Street, second floor.

The art works were created by artists and children in the Princeton area. The poster has been designed from a pen and ink drawing shown at the recent Princeton Middle School display on health and the human body.

The Mother's Day show and sale will support the work of Frontiers in Adoption, the Committee of 1000 and the Fund for Peace Education. "Frontiers" is an organization interested in finding permanent homes for school-age children in need. The Committee of 1000 hopes to establish in Saigon a reception center for Vietnamese orphans.

Mother LOVES Flowers* AND YOU FOR REMEMBERING

Return a favor — give mom a gift of life — vibrant, fresh, living flowers. She'll understand.

PLEASANT UNDER GLASS

Our newest and neatest creation — and probably one of our sweetest. Original with Allen's — it features a generous Williamsburg bouquet of dainty fresh flowers — sealed in glass (plastic). A dainty, beribboned box of chocolates is perked jauntily on top, container can be planted up as a terrarium later. Ask for the "Big B" — our beauty bubble.

ABOUT OUR WILLIAMSBURG ARRANGEMENTS

When we created our "Williamsburg Bouquet" two years ago, we little expected that they would be catapulted to such fame, and while we are ever alert to present this colonial styling in new and refreshing ways (as our "Big

B" — above), our past stylings, now classics continue to draw rave reports.

Just as some like the "old songs" better, some like our old designs as much as ever. In fact "old designs" is what the Williamsburg bouquets are all about. Lots and lots of flowers, lots and lots of color, lots and lots of detail — and lots and lots of life. They keep. The composition of colonial arrangements is an open secret — it's just that Allen's seem to understand them better than any one else.

COURT FIGHT LOOMS

Over Hopewell Apartments. Hollander Properties, Inc. may go to court in an attempt to gain a reversal of Hopewell Borough's decision that blocks plans for garden apartments in a low-density residential section of the town.

The Council voted 4-1 last week to repeal a section of the town's zoning ordinance that would have permitted Hollander to apply for garden apartment permits as a "special exception use" in an R-100 zone.

Joseph Castoro and David Denise, Hollander officers, said the suit may be based in part on the recent decision handed down by State Superior Court Judge Edward V. Martino, who ruled that the zoning ordinance of Mount Laurel was invalid because it permitted no low and moderate-income housing.

Mr. Castoro, who is also a member of the Council, abstained from voting and any discussion during the public hearing. However, after the meeting he commented, "It's my town. I've lived here all my life. We're the highest taxed community behind Trenton, and the garden apartment project would reduce our taxes. There's no question about it."

POLICE WEEK

In Borough, Township. A police exhibit trailer will be at the Princeton Shopping Center Friday and Saturday, May 19 and 20, in observance of National Police Week.

The "Week" has been proclaimed by President Nixon, and begins officially on Sunday. Next Monday, will be "Peace Officers Memorial Day," honoring police killed in line of duty.

Opening ceremonies for the Princeton trailer will be at 9 a.m. May 19, with Township Mayor John D. Wallace and Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley in attendance. Officers will serve as guides to the public and will explain the displays.

The trailer will be open from 9-9 on Fridays and 9-6 on Saturday. On May 20, police headquarters in Township Hall will be open from 9-5 to residents and their children. Tours of headquarters will be conducted by police officers, and movies will be shown.

Student group tours may be arranged through Lt. Richard Steiner, 921-2100.

WOMEN AND WORK

"NOW" Topic. "Women's Liberation and the Work Structure" is the topic for the next meeting of the Central New Jersey chapter of the National Organization for Women, to be held next Wednesday, at 8 p.m. in the Unitarian Church.

Betsy Brown, Director of EVE ("Employment, Volunteers, Education"), and Mildred Goldberger, founder of Princeton's Professional Roster, will speak. The public is invited.

OPPOSES NIXON ACT

"Shocked," Says Bohen. "I am shocked by and totally opposed to President Nixon's latest decision on Vietnam," declared Democratic Congressional aspirant Fred Bohen this week, following the President's announced decision to mine key harbors in Vietnam.

Mr. Bohen seeks the Democratic nomination as candidate from the Fifth District, in which Princeton is now included. The primary is June 6. Mr. Bohen, 128 Fitzrandolph Road, is a Ford Foundation executive.

In his statement, Mr. Bohen jibed at Republican Congressman Peter Frelinghuysen, who now represents the Fifth District, and who will face in November the candidate who turns out to be the Democrats' choice.

"Nixon and Congressman Frelinghuysen have supported the policy of 'Vietnamization.' That policy is now in bankruptcy," Mr. Bohen stated.

Likening President Nixon's actions to the 1970 Cambodia development, Mr. Bohen said, "I can only believe that this rash act is motivated in large measure by the President's obvious need to try anything to salvage his own chances of reelection and those of Frelinghuysen, who has supported his Vietnam policies uncritically and without reservation."

Topics Of The Town

live that mining and blockading ports means 'winding down' the war? In fact, the Vietnam war will end in negotiated political settlement only when the United States totally ends its military involvement. My candidacy for Congress rests unequivocally on that objective and intention."

The Princeton Community Democratic Organization last week endorsed Mr. Bohen as the primary choice over Christian Lund and Robert Grant. The P.C.D.O. also endorsed the Mercer County delegate slate for George McGovern, and the candidacy of Daniel Gaby for the U.S. Senate nomination.

ART AND SCIENCE . . .

At Chapin School. Acrylic paintings and protozoa studies will both be on display this Sunday when the Chapin School, Mercer Road, presents its annual Art and Science Show.

The event will be held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Parents and guests are invited to join students and faculty.

Creative arts will include ceramic figures, symmography, plexiglas sculptures, collages, enameled copper jewelry and papiermache puppets.

Live animals will be used in demonstrations of animal psychology, and parents will be invited to work a Van de Graff generator, a high-voltage Tesla coil and a windtunnel. Exhibits of protozoa and molds, as seen through a microscope, timelapse photography and astrophotography will be on view.

PING PONG A FEATURE

At PDS Fair. The PDS Fair, in keeping with its Oriental theme, will feature a ping pong tournament Saturday when the Fair will be held from 10 to 4 at the Great Road campus.

Tournaments have been held at the school throughout the week for those who want to compete with a winner there will be a singles challenge table.

An all-school event, the Fair will take place in the skating rink where numerous games and happenings are planned. Two new additions to the Fair menu this year will be Gino's Fried Chicken and Dunkin' Donuts.

Proceeds from the Fair will go to the Princeton Day School Scholarship fund.

SCHOOL CONCERT SET

Teachers, Students. A student-teacher in the Bach "Gamba" sonata will be the feature of the final chamber concert by the instrumental music department at Princeton High School. It will be held next Monday, at 8 p.m. in the Instrumental Room.

Peter Dundon, cellist, who is a member of the teaching staff, will perform the sonata with student pianist Miriam Sander. Miss Sander will also be heard in works by Bartok and Brahms.

Sylvan Friedman, will conduct the string orchestra in music by Leclair and Bartok, which will conclude the program.

MINI COURSES OFFERED

At YMCA. Registration is now being taken for three mini-classes still open at the YMCA. Candle-making for women and girls, crocheting for women, and Reading Readiness for pre-kindergarten girls will start next week and run for a five-week term.

Candle-making will be taught by Debbie Otto, a professional candlemaker from Somerville. The class will meet Wednesday evenings from 7 - 9.

Crocheting will be taught by Eldrid Midtun, experienced teacher and part owner of "Nordicraft", and will be held on Tuesday mornings from 9:30 - 11:30. To the Editor of Town Topics:

Yesterday, I saw two bitches in heat followed by interested male dogs. This ultimately means litters of unwanted mongrel puppies.

Again I beg the Township and the Borough to have a high license fee for all unspayed females. No unwanted, unloved dogs would mean no dog warden; a substantial saving, and no laboratory horrors.

Kennels of pure bred dogs could get a "Breeder's License" as is usual in most communities. Please Messrs Mayors - take action.

Tax Reform Questioned.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The working man's ability to pay income taxes and property taxes is about to be the subject of debate and study by the N. J. Legislature. To date the N. J. Public is uninformed as to what it will cost each of us — to the penny — whether we own property or work or both!

On May 3rd I requested that our Councilmen request the publication of those proposed taxes, in table form, so that we all can compute our possible new tax obligations. I therefore recommend that the residents of every town in N.J. make the same request of their local officials so that they are fully aware of their own position before the Legislature meets to discuss this very important issue.

There are a number of major conceptual deficiencies with the proposal as it now stands (regardless of its goal), and as I see them they are: Those who own property and work will pay a double tax; those who rent and work are not guaranteed a reduction in their rents as the apartment owner realizes a substantial reduction in his property tax, while the renter will now pay an income tax.

The reduction in business real estate tax will cause an increase in the individual tax burden; income and property taxes may be increased by both the state and the local community respectively; the veterans will lose both their property tax deduction and their organizations will lose their tax exempt status.

Lastly the senior citizen property owner will receive only a token tax break while being required to pay an income tax! The veteran and senior citizen should receive greater tax relief, possibly on a federal level as well.

I'd prefer a single tax assessment for each worker, probably best handled on a federal level with rebates to the states on a per capita basis. This could equalize education-

Help from S.A.V.E. Welcomed.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to publicly express my thanks to Mrs. Graves of the Small Animal Veterinary Endowment who recently tried so very hard to help me with a pet problem. There is no organization or other individual who is available to render the kind of service Mrs. Graves performs in the area.

She certainly deserves the appreciation and support of our community which includes donations to the fund she services so well.

There are two avenues of approach that I would suggest taking in order to eliminate the "double standard."

First, I put forward as a consideration that a voter should be able to affiliate or dis-affiliate with the party of choice up to forty days before primary. This would allow responsiveness to change without jeopardizing basic party integrity. Mass switching (as in California) to defeat a strong candidate of the opposite party would be minimized as forty days represents also the period of time for filing of candidacy.

Secondly, Title 19 (N. J. Election Laws) is a jungle of inconsistency, vagueness, and omission. The findings and recommendations of the Election Law Revision Commission are bottled up in the Legislature at this moment. However, the heart of the problem lies with the County organizations (both Republican and Democratic).

Many of these mini-machines do not want home rule disturbed. Whoever is in control of the County can interpret election laws to their benefit. Another recent court case, as of this writing, as to party slogan is one such example.

Here, in Mercer, members of the Republican legislative team are at the forefront of those of us who are crying out for the complete revision of Title 19. Constant pressure, throughout the State of N. J., must be brought to bear on the legislators. This, and only this course of action, will bring about the revisions and the uniformity that are so seriously needed.

Election laws should be responsive not restrictive. They should be clearly defined and not be open to the vagueness which leads only to selfish interpretation. Double standards are as unworthy in election laws as in daily social contacts.

W. HARRY SAYEN

Republican County Chairman

Red Cross Is Grateful.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The American Red Cross, Princeton Chapter, would like to recognize the efforts of some Princeton residents who have served and sacrificed to help our Red Cross Youth program of the Princeton Chapter. On April 22, 40 students from Princeton, Montgomery, Cranbury, and East and West Windsor walked a 19 mile course in a very cold, pouring rain to raise money for the Red Cross Youth Service Fund.

These 40 students raised nearly $1500! We feel that they are an excellent example of the willingness of our youth to make sacrifices in helping a cause which they believe in. We also want to thank the hundreds of people who helped them do so by pledging their support of these walkers. Their money will be used to carry out projects of Red Cross Youth, the costs of which are not budgeted by the Chapter.

We would also like to thank those who helped us with the execution of the walk. These include the students who did so much work and spent so much time working out the many details of the walk. They are: Anna Lewis, Margaret Wasilewski, Barbara Allen, Missy Warden, Nancy Jacobs, and Eileen Patrick of Princeton High School, and Barbara Bates of Montgomery High School.

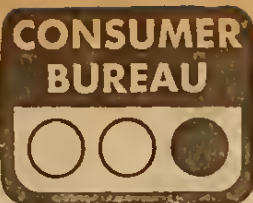

Thanks also go to the police departments of West Windsor, Princeton Borough, and Princeton Township for their help and co-operation. We want also to recognize American Cyanamid, who let us use their plant for part of our route. Aljon's, Acme Markets, and the A&P should also be mentioned for their help in supplying food for the marchers.

Princeton can be rightly proud that so many of its members show sacrifice, and enthusiasm, so that Red Cross Youth can carry on its goal of helping the community.

Responsible Local Business Natural All of the Cons

ONCE UPON A TIME, CONSUMERS HAD IT MADE!

Not so many years ago, when you bought something it didn't work out as it should, you took it right back for a satisfactory replacement or your money back on the spot.

The merchant in turn got a refund from the manufacturer for particular manufacturer's products altogether and sw

THEN MADISON AVENUE BY-PASSED OUR LOCAL MERCHANTS

Billions of dollars are being spent annually in print advertising to build confidence in brand name manufactured products rather than in our local merchants. We are in effect urged to shop around for our favorite products wherever we can at the lowest possible prices. Who needs an independent merchant when a stock clerk can handle a customer who needs parts and service facilities when the product is warranted?

LEAVING CONSUMER PROTECTION UP TO THE GOVERNMENT

So many of us have bought this very doubtful benefit of the basic consumer protection traditionally offered us by the government now look wistfully to the government for protection.

BUT WHO REGULATES THE REGULATORS?

To protect consumers, Ralph Nader wants tighter government practices. But as Mr. Nader himself admits, government regulation of the very industries they are supposed to regulate. So

THE HOUR IS LATE — BUT RESPONSIBLE LOCAL BUSINESS PEOPLE

Fortunately for all of us, there are still a great many independent business people in our communities who live by the old rules and standards, whether they get cooperation from manufacturers.

As fellow-consumers, they also share our local environment and they contribute in many ways to the betterment of our community.

They are our natural economic and environmental allies and support as much as they need ours.

WHO ARE THESE RESPONSIBLE LOCAL BUSINESS PEOPLE?

You'll find them everywhere around you — in virtually every business. Some are big, some are small; some are old and some are new; but all have an affirmative record of responsible dealings with consumers.

More than 1500 of them in or serving Princeton. The Consumer Bureau's Register of recommended business people are listed by their own satisfied customers who recommend them. Stay on our Register, business people are expected to be consumer volunteers in their handling of any and all consumer complaints which come to our attention. No business firm stays on the Consumer Bureau Register.

HOW IS CONSUMER BUREAU FINANCED?

Although Consumer Bureau Registered business people pay a fee, such, many of them choose to pay an optional annual fee to advertise their Consumer Bureau Registration. This is necessary to maintain and publicize Consumer Bureau business people.

WHAT GOOD IS CONSUMER BUREAU?

Consumer Bureau serves consumers — especially new consumers — responsible local business people promptly and easily. It serves responsible local business people by helping them to get the cost — the new customers they deserve to have.

BUSINESS In Princeton

LOSS CUT SHARPLY

At Applied Logis. Applied Logic Corp., 1 Palmer Square, announced this week that its per share loss for the six-month period ending March 31 was 19 cents a share. This contrasts with a loss of $3.30 per share for the corresponding period a year ago.

Operating revenues were little changed: $1,213,000 for the current year, and $1,206,000 for the same duration in 1970-71. Martin T. Mobach, president and chairman of the board, declared, however, that the company had achieved its financial objective—a positive cash flow. "In addition," he said, "capitalization, changes in ownership and direction, and quasi-reorganization have had a material effect on the company's balance sheet and income statement."

Last December, Applied Logic declared a 5-for-1 reverse split. On March 28, Mr. Mobach reported, "the company satisfied conditions of the recapitalization agreement which required an improvement in the company's working capital position by $500,000 during the six months period prior to that date."

The message to stockholders reported that in February, Applied Logic successfully outbid four other time-sharing companies for a three-year contract from First National City Bank. This made the company the exclusive distributor for timeshared computer applications generated by Citibank's Computer Software Services for use by its correspondent banks and major corporations.

Applied Logic is now operating with 28% of the employees it had two years ago, following what Mr. Mobach terms "its struggle for survival." He noted that whereas well under 50% of the accounts receivable were collected in March, 1970, the report for the current period is 100%. "Profitability for fiscal 1973 is an attainable objective," the president declared.

AGENCY DIRECTOR NAMED
For College Advisory Service Philip R. Shays of 32 Wheat Sheaf Lane has been appointed agency director for the National College Advisory Service, Inc., of Cherry Hill.

Recently retired from a 35-year career as a Labor Relations expert for Lorillard, Schenley, Kaiser Industries, Inc. and Republic Aviation Corporation, Mr. Shays has been serving as a private consultant to management in company-union personnel problems. His work with NCAS will encompass the introduction of college-bound high school students, their parents and their guidance counselor to the service his company provides.

It compares and matches students' answers on company provided questionnaires, with stored information in a multi-million dollar computer, which ejects a "print-out" list of 8 to 18 schools which best meet his or her needs, in the probable order of acceptance. Academic qualifications, college program objectives, college expenses, general college environment and over-all preference as indicated by the student, are screened and matched.

Mr. Shays, a 22-year resident here, has a son and daughter at Princeton High School. He is a private airplane pilot, basing his plane at Princeton Airport, and a member of American Management Association. He is available for speaking engagements about his College Advisory Service to all civic groups.

BANK CREATES AWARD
For Real Estate Firms. The Princeton Bank and Trust Company has introduced a new community recognition award—the Princeton Bank Key Real Estate Award.

To be awarded annually, this plaque has been created by the Princeton Bank to acknowledge the community service performed by Princeton-area real estate people in encouraging the orderly development of local housing and in benefiting the entire community.

All Princeton-area real estate companies will be invited to nominate the name of one person who they feel is most deserving of the award. A Princeton Bank independent panel of judges will select the award recipient from these nominations.

The first presentation, for outstanding service to the Princeton-area housing community during the balance of the year 1972, will be made at the first Princeton Bank Awards Dinner early in 1973.

Mr. William R. Cosby, Chairman of the Board of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company, announced the creation of the Princeton Bank Key Real Estate Award at a recent reception given by the Princeton Bank for Princeton-area real estate brokers at the Nassau Inn.

Whence Herrontown?

Historians at the Princeton Historical Society are spending their time these days trying to find out where the name "Herrontown" comes from.

There's a Herrontown Arboretum and a Herrontown Road and Circle, but the Arboretum seems to be the cause of it all. A booklet on the woodland, published late last fall, has been reduced in price from $4.95 to $3 and is on sale at the Society's headquarters, 158 Nassau, and somehow the price reduction got people to thinking about origins.

Anybody know? A telephone call to Mrs. Marguerite McAneny in charge of research archives at the Society, would be welcome. The number is 921-6817.

er application, with a non-refundable $25 testing fee, will constitute registration for the test. All applicants should be registered by Thursday.

ASKS VIETNAM ACTION
Common Cause Statement. Princeton area residents were urged this week by Common Cause representatives to press for affirmative action on a bill requiring total withdrawal from Indo-China by December of this year.

James M. Banner Jr., 79 Deerpath, chairman of the New Jersey Steering Committee for Common Cause, issued a statement asking Princeton residents to write Congressman Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, representative from the newly-defined Fifth District in which Princeton is now included. Congressman Frelinghuysen sits on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which has the power to report out the necessary bill.

Mr. Banner pointed out that the bill in question must be out of committee by May 20. I states that war funds will be cut off by the end of the year, subject only to the return of prisoners.

PHS BOWS, 7-1
To St. Anthony Nine. Princeton High School's three game winning streak in baseball came to an end Monday when Rick Small, making his first varsity appearance on the mound for St. Anthony's, limited the Little Tigers to three hits. The home team won its sixth in ten starts, 7-1.

PHS scored its lone run in the second when Chris Grael walked, advanced on John Moran's single and came home on an error by the St. Anthony first baseman, George Boccia. George Boccia collected the other two hits off Small.

The home team won it in the first when it scored four runs, the big hit a three-run triple by center fielder Tony Pantaleoni. Princeton's Lance Marshall (1-4) took the loss.

He gave up seven hits and five runs in the four innings he worked. His counterpart, Small, struck out four.

The Little Tigers will be at Franklin High School on Friday and Notre Dame next Tuesday. They will play host to Notre Dame Wednesday in a makeup of a rained out contest. Starting time is 3:45.

TENNIS TEAM 10-0
With Win Over Peddie. The Princeton High School tennis team made it ten straight victories in a row Monday with a 5-0 victory over Peddie.

Michel Glouchevitch, Danny Thompson and Bill Schmidt won singles matches. Bob Aldridge and Robby McDougal and Randy Thomas and Dick Broad won in doubles play.

TRACKMEN TRIUMPH, 84-46
Over St. Thomas Aquinas. Sweeping all the field events but the javelin where Richard Guzy took a second, visiting Princeton High School defeated St. Thomas Aquinas Monday, 84-46.

The Little Tigers, now 2-6, will compete Saturday in the annual Mercer County Meet at Lawrence High School Saturday. On Monday the team will be at Somerville and at Lawrence on Wednesday.

Double winners for PHS at St. Thomas were Craig Carlton in the low and high hurdles and Steve Woodside, who won the 220 in 23.0 and the 100-yard dash in 10.7. Mike Coda won the half-mile and Roland Smith the mile.

Lou Drury broke a dry spell for him by winning the discus and taking second in the shot. The latter was won by teammate Bill Alexander. Bill Wilson took the high jump for PHS, Lionel Hammond the long jump, and George Fish the pole vault.

HUN TOPS PERKIOMEN
On Skrajewski 2-Hitter. Dennis Skrajewski and Chuck Sista combined Monday to pitch and bat the Hun School to a 7-2 victory over Perkiomen.

Skrajewski gave up just two hits in the six innings he worked, fanning 10. He had two hits, Sista pitched the last inning. Before that, he batted out three hits, including a triple and double.

Outfielder Al Chalfoux connected for a solo home run and catcher Greg Ralfaski added two more hits as Hun stretched its record for the season to 7-2.

NEW COACH NAMED
As Carril's Assistant. Robert K. Dukiet, a former All-American forward at Livingston High School, has been appointed assistant basketball coach at Princeton University. He will replace G. Arthur Hyland, recently named Assistant to the Commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

Dukiet, who was an assistant to Dartmouth basketball coach George Blaney last winter, is a 1970 graduate of Boston College where he was an outstanding player as a sophomore before a knee injury curtailed his career. In his sophomore season, he was twice named ECAC Sophomore of the Week and he averaged 13.6 points while playing in 24 games for the Eagles. Though he never regained full playing capability following the injury, Dukiet was drafted in 1970 by the Los Angeles Lakers. In that year, he was graduated from Boston College, receiving his degree cum laude in finance.

Prior to going to Dartmouth in 1971-72, the New Jersey native held a graduate assistantship at Montclair State College while studying toward a master's degree. At Dartmouth, Dukiet served as freshman tennis coach in addition to his basketball duties. He is expected to handle the Princeton freshman team while working with varsity coach Pete Carril, who is completing his fifth season here.

Babe Ruth Tryouts Set
Tryouts for boys who wish to play in the Babe Ruth League will be held by the Princeton Youth Baseball League Saturday morning at 10 at the Valley Road School field.

Any boy born prior to August 1, 1959, and on or after August 1, 1956, is eligible. Those who played in the league in the past and are still eligible need not try out. Additional information may be obtained from Jack Petrone, 924-4339, or Joe Opperman, 924-5106.

sunfish and three sloop competed.

Ed Metcalf was the overall champion for the day in the Sunfish racing, followed by Bob Holzman and Walt Gibson. Milt Winters enjoyed his best performance of the year.

The racing, however, was marred by controversy after the Race Committee failed to score properly the third race. The winner of the disputed race, Metcalf, is tied with Holzman for the series lead after 35 races.

Hector Poyentud was the leader for the day in the Sloop class. He received an assist from tailender Frank Ridgway who captured second place in the last race to guarantee Poyentud's victory.

Dr. Edward C. Kendall, 86, of 3 Queenston Place, died May 4 in Rahway Hospital. The winner of the Nobel Prize in medicine and physiology in 1950, he was a pioneer in the discovery of cortisone and thyroxin, and was the first to demonstrate the role that biochemistry could play in clinical medicine.

He received the Nobel Prize, together with Dr. P. S. Hensch and Dr. Tadeusz Reichstein, for his separation and identification of a series of compounds from the adrenal cortex that resulted in the eventual synthesis and large scale production of the hormones cortisone and hydro-cortisone.

Dr. Kendall was affiliated with the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., for 37 years retiring in 1951. Since then he was visiting professor of chemistry at Princeton University. His research at the university's James Forrestal campus developed in 1961 the synthesis of a new compound, a 2-ethyl 34-furandiketone, associated with hydrocortisone, which he hoped could be combined with cortisone to eliminate long-range side effects of the cortisone drugs.

A native of South Norwalk, Conn., Dr. Kendall received in 1908 a B.S. degree from Columbia University, which subsequently awarded his master's and doctorate in chemistry. After a brief period in the research laboratory of Parke Davis & Co., Detroit, he spent three years at St. Luke's Hospital, New York City, working on the isolation of the thyroid hormone. He completed the project in 1914 at the Mayo Clinic. Use of the hormone, obtained from cattle thyroids, made up for deficiencies in glandular secretions in countless human beings and helped them grow normally.

Hormones Isolated. Dr. Kendall began in 1930 to study the hormones of the adrenal cortex and by 1938 had isolated six, which he named Compounds A, B, C, D, E and F. Compound E was later called cortisone. In the ensuing years, he identified the chemical structure and composition of the various adrenal compounds and was able to accomplish a partial synthesis.

It was a 29-step procedure, based upon bile secreted by the gall bladder of beef cattle, to partially synthesize Compound E. The first microscopic bits were produced in 1944 and four years later there was enough for experiments upon human beings.

The cortisones were originally heralded as miracle drugs for their dramatic rehabilitation of Mayo Clinic patients crippled by rheumatoid arthritis. The hormones are widely used in treating certain diseases of the eye, skin, kidney, lungs, blood, blood vessels, gastrointestinal tract, connective tissue and muscle.

They have also been found to be effective in suppressing reactions of inflammation and have been used as a therapy for the treatment of Addison's disease.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rebecca K. Kendall; a daughter, Mrs. John J. Steve of Coeur D'Alene, Idaho; a son, Hugh C. of Rochester, N. Y., ten grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

A memorial service was held in Princeton University Chapel. Interment was in Rochester, Minn. Memorial gifts may be sent to the Mayo Foundation for the Advancement of Medical Education and Research, Rochester, Minn.

Charles H. Kahn, professor of economics at Rutgers University, died April 28 in Princeton Hospital. He lived at 20 Linden Lane.

Dr. Kahn earned a reputation in the area of public finance through his books and articles and testimony before Congressional committees and other public bodies.

A native of Germany, he moved to England when the Nazis came to power. From there he came to the United States where he studied at the Watkins Institute in Nashville, Tenn., and later received degrees from Vanderbilt University and the University of Wisconsin.

Before coming to Rutgers in 1958, Dr. Kahn was a member of the staff of the National Bureau of Economic Research in New York City, a connection he maintained while at Rutgers.

He previously taught at the University of Wisconsin and the College of the City of New York. He also served as a consultant to the City of Milwaukee and the State of Wisconsin on tax and other fiscal problems.

His wife, Hannah, and children survive.

A private service was held.

Dr. Hetty Goldman, 90, died May 4 at her home, 2 Newlin Road. A noted archaeologist, she was the only woman to be appointed professor in the Institute for Advanced Study. She joined the Institute in 1936 and retired 20 years later on her 75th birthday.

Among her most important works are her reports "excavations at Eutresis in Boetia" and "Excavations at Gozlu Kule Tarsus." Her studies focused on archaeological findings in Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia.

Dr. Goldman, a native of New York, was graduated from Bryn Mawr College in 1903, where she majored in English. She earned an M.A. from Radcliffe in 1910 and a Ph.D. in 1916.

In 1911, as a fellow in the the American School of Classical Studies in Greece, she was the first woman permitted to direct an archaeological excavation. After serving as a volunteer nurse during World War I, Dr. Goldman returned to her chosen field, directing diggings in Turkey for the Fogg Museum of Harvard both prior to and after the Graeco-Turkish War.

In Turkey 14 Years. From 1934 to 1948 she conducted excavations in Turkey, a 14-year project funded by Bryn Mawr College, Harvard University, the Archaeological Institute of America and the Institute for Advanced Study.

Dr. Goldman received a gold medal of distinction in archaeology in 1966 from the Archaeological Institute of America. During the course of her career, she received many honors and citations from Radcliffe and Bryn Mawr.

On the occasion of her retirement from the Institute, many students and friends presented her with a volume of essays, "The Aegean and the Near East," especially prepared in her honor. Included were contributions from more than 40 scholars.

A sister, Mrs. Ashton Sanborn of Cambridge, Mass., survives her.

A private service was held in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Hawthorne, N.Y.

Kenneth E. Roberts, 55, the Plainsboro police chief, died May 5 of an apparent heart attack while on a routine patrol. He was named full-time police chief last year and also served the township as welfare director and licensing agent for game.

Chief Robbins was found sitting in his car on the side of Princeton Road near Dey Road by John Keatona, 70, of Day Road. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Princeton Medical Center at about 4:30 p.m.

Born in Millville, Pa., Chief Robbins moved to Plainsboro in 1936. He became a part-time policeman in 1952, while also working for the Walker-Gordon Laboratory. He was Plainsboro's one-man police force for 20 years.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Grace Robbins, who serves as the Plainsboro Township court is the title of one of nearly 200 health books available at The Nutrition Center.

Referring to the Shute Institute for Clinical and Laboratory Medicine, one paragraph in the book says:

"The Shute physicians find that one of the most valuable uses of Vitamin E is in the treatment of Phlebitis, inflammation of the veins of the leg. Dr. Shute says 'Chronic phlebitis can be treated only with Vitamin E. The agent simply has no rivals in the management of this condition. It relieves pain, tenderness and aching. It prevents varicose veins from worsening — and probably prevents them from developing'."

That's only ONE of the important uses of the wonderful condensed-food substance known as Vitamin E. The other uses are equally as beneficial to your total health and happiness.

Bohen — "a real difference"

"I run for Congress as a Democrat in the new 5th District because I am not satisfied with the past performance or promise of the opposition. I think my candidacy can make a real difference.

"I run for Congress to help end a misguided, unconscionable war. Then to focus our sights on issues of the future — to re-affirm that we intend one, not two, societies here at home; to help restore confidence in the integrity and workability of our representative forms of government.

"This is not a time for listless candidates to seek public trust. I run for Congress to offer leadership for the concerns of the citizens of the Princeton area — aiming to achieve the skill and record of progressive accomplishment of our present distinguished Congressman, Frank Thompson Jr. I intend to play a searching, independent role in the councils of government — and to make my mark as an advocate of change and social justice under law.

"Whenever your life is touched by government, I want to make law truly responsive to your needs.

"On this basis, I seek your help and support."

Organist and choirmaster James Litton will direct a program of compositions for choir, brass ensemble and consort of early instruments by Byrd, Weelkes, Tomkins, Schutz, Gabrieli, Bach and Vaughan Williams. In the performance of the 16th and 17th Century music, the choir will revive the old practice of having instruments double voice parts, rather than sing all of the works unaccompanied. Many of the works in the program are for two, three and four choirs.

The seven-part brass ensemble will have Gerard Schwarz of the American Symphony Orchestra and the New York Brass Ensemble as first trumpet player. A six-part consort of recorders, krumphorns and rackets, prepared by Jennifer Lehman, will also accompany the choir. The instrumentalists will perform three ensemble works.

A small positon organ, supplied by the Casavant Organ Company of Canada especially for the performance, will be a feature of the concert. It will be played by David Agler, associate organist at Trinity.

Sunday's concert closes the year's series of concerts and musical services sponsored by Trinity and All Saints' Churches. There is no admission charge.

Of Ecumenical Retreat. President James I. McCord of Princeton Seminary has announced an ecumenical priest-minister retreat under the leadership of Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen. The retreat is scheduled for June 12-14 at the seminary.

HOME!

With views overlooking the rolling fields around Blawenburg, situated on almost an acre, and virtually enclosed by splendid evergreens, maples, mimosa, weeping cherry, apple, shrubs, a ROSE GARDEN, a vegetable garden and a raspberry patch, this property has a great sense of privacy as well as being very convenient to Princeton and commuting.

The house is from a time when craftsmanship and solidity were virtues and every functional aspect (furnace water pump, stove, etc.) has been replaced recently. You're practically starting fresh for years of trouble free being at home. The owners had been planning on staying!

3 bedrooms, 1½ baths, brick fireplace, screened porch, separate dining room, garage, a very dry basement, lots of storage, and a cozy den.

Offered at $51,000

Princetonians Will Participate in Arts Jubilee at State Museum

A round robin in the arts opens Saturday, May 20, at the New Jersey State Museum, West State Street, Trenton, sparked by committees headed by a number of Princetonians. Mrs. W. Park Armstrong Jr. of Province Line Road is general chairman.

The arts jubilee will carry on for seven consecutive days. Offerings include art exhibits, concert choirs singing classical, gospel, pop and rock music, dance theatre, a champagne buffet dinner, the concert version of Donizetti's "Don Pasquale," a teen-arts showcase, chamber music, jazz and dixieland combos.

To round it all out, pianist Garrick Ohlsson, first American winner of the Chopin International Competition in Warsaw, Poland, will be the featured artist with the New Jersey Symphony. A champagne reception follows the concert.

"Magic Muse." On view every day outside the museum will be "The Magic Muse," the nation's first artmobile and the greatest innovation of Festival '72. The Magic Muse is a traveling educational laboratory designed to develop tactile, visual and audio senses through creative experience. The pioneer project will soon begin its tour of the state, backed by grants from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts, a Federal agency.

The designer is Princeton architect J. Robert Hillier, whose plans and scale model won an award from the state chapter of the American Institute of Architects last September. Mrs. Neal W. O'Connor of Princeton-Kingston Road is chairman of the Festival's education committee which developed the project. Advisors include Judith Brodsky, Ilse Johnson, Margaret K. Johnson and Jane Teller, all of Princeton.

Exhibits. Mrs. John Davies and Mrs. John O'Hara are chairmen of the Festival '72 committee that is producing a 326-page catalog of the three-part fine arts exhibit. Prudential Insurance Company of America contributed $20,000 towards the costs, which includes color plates. Paintings and sculpture on loan from New Jersey residents include such artists as Reynolds, Sisley, Renoir, Van Gogh, Corot, Courbet, Constable, Rodin, Gainsborough, Degas, Monet, Inness, Hassam and many more in the "Pre-Twentieth Century American and European Painting and Sculpture

McGOVERN FESTIVAL SET
For Saturday, May 20. Taking in a bit of everything from art "happenings" to an old-fashioned bake sale — and complete with music and strolling players — a "Mercer County McGovern Festival" will be held in Princeton on Saturday, May 20 to aid the cause of the South Dakota Democrat.

Running from 11 to 5, the Festival will be held outdoors at 132 Elm Road, residence of Mrs. Anne Martindell, a Mercer County McGovern delegate.

Described by its organizers as "an afternoon of fun and fund raising," the Festival's main feature will be the sale of a great variety of hand-produced items—from home-baked bread to leather goods to paintings and sketches — supplied by people of the Mercer County area.

Needlecraft, pottery, cakes, candles, jewelry will be on sale as will plants of varied sorts grown in home gardens. The one criterion for entry — and virtually any kind of handicraft will be welcome — is that the object, plant, whatever-you-be created by people themselves not purchased in a store.

Mrs. John O'Hara

Show" which opens May 20 and continues through June 25. Exhibits from June 30 to August 6 will be "Twentieth Century American and European Painting and Sculpture;" August 11 to September 24, "American and European Drawings, Pastels, Prints and Watercolors."

The art works were assembled by museum director Leah P. Slosberg and Zoltan Buki, curator of fine art. Many will be seen for the first time by the general public.

Also on loan from private collections throughout the state are unusual pieces of decorative art which will be on view through September 24. New Jersey-made clocks, furniture, silver, pottery, porcelain, glass, textiles, firearms and more have been assembled by decorative arts curator James R. Mitchell. Mrs. Kenneth Chorley of Hopewell is head of the committee.

Performing Arts. A total of 14 music, theatre and dance events are set for the festival week, with afternoon and evening performances scheduled. The planning committee is chaired by Frank Taplin, with Mrs. Thomas Paine as co-chairmen, both of Princeton.

The schedule follows:
Sat. May 20, Musical, "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer;" National Theatre Company. Updated version, flavored with country & western music. Performances at 10 a.m., 1 and 4 p.m. in museum auditorium.
Sat. May 20, Concert performance of Donizetti's "Don Pasquale" by members of Metropolitan Opera Studio, John Gutman, director. With costumes and semi-staged. 8:30 p.m., museum's Cultural Hall.

Sun. May 21, Quartet from Marlboro Festival group: Pro

Entertainment will be supplied by several musical groups, as well as individual guitarists and folk singers, and impromptu theater presentations are being planned. The Festival Committee also promises a number of "happenings" over the course of the afternoon.

For the children, there will be games and a McGovern poster contest — with paints, papers, and other materials supplied.

The general chairman for the Festival Committee is Dede Nini. Working with her are: Judith Nielson, Susan Jones, Nina Alexander, Charles Reed, Ellwood Kauffman, Jockey Helm, Clo Trevis, Lankford Bolling and Norbert and Ginny Nelson.

Also aiding in the planning are the Mercer County McGovern delegates selected last month at the "mini-convention" in Hamilton Square. In addition to Mrs. Martindell, they include: Gerald Stockman, Fred Morgan, Anne Thompson, Abby Rubenfeld, Nina Thompson, and Eugene Harzenski.

Persons interested in working on the Festival planning or in placing handicraft items are asked to call Dede Nini at 921-2170 or 924-3788.

Shaw Has Elan, Style, Wit; "Philanderer" Now at Intime

The ultimate sentiments of my last commentary saw me desperate, marooned by the Triangle Club at McCarter Theatre, bereft of wit and suspense.

This week's chapter in my evolving theater adventure finds me once again happily awash in the rich waters of Theatre Intime. I am rescued, saved by a splendid production of George Bernard Shaw's "The Philanderer," which will be repeated at Murray Theatre on May 11, 12 and 13.

How welcome an experience it is, even if you don't know you need rescuing, splashing with elan in these elan-less days. To paraphrase a character here, how jolly it is to go to the theatre for nothing!

These words, you must understand, are those of a man often frightened, or put off, by Shaw. Always afraid of being stabbed or punctured, I've dealt with him only when necessary, and then delicately. He leaves so little to the feelings; everything is so terribly thoughtful; he seems to have x-ray vision into all invisible things.

I, who live by the eye within the heart, am naturally fearful of such a man, he could shred my life. But, on the other hand, I've never found him heartless; rather, he has seemed to articulate the fluctuations of that thumping muscle with clarity that is, I suppose, the center of both his genius and my anti-Shavian fears.

This play, however, seems not to be the incisive and complex Shaw we expect in his later plays. "The Philanderer" is 80 years old, and it shows us, I think, the beginnings of Shaw's evolving genius for repartee, clarity amidst absurdity, and militant devotion to human honesty. This is also a feminist play, perfectly attuned to America in 1972, and it is chiefly this aspect of "The Philanderer" that Theatre Intime has clarified and emphasized in this fine evening.

To be sure, Shaw is not simplistic in his attack on the opposition of "manliness" to "womanliness". He creates here an elaborate spectre, Ibsenism, and a curious club, The Ibsen Club, to embody the argument.

Membership in the club is restricted to unmanly men (who do not depend upon the subjugation of women) and unwomanly women (who choose to lead independent lives). These are citizens in the world of "advanced views", and their emphasis is on liberty, not staking out claims on other people.

Thoughts of George Saunders. Chief among these extraordinary characters is Charteris, performed by Stephen Hunter, a role which must have been written with a premonition of the late George Sanders. Charteris is the who philanders, and Mr. Hunter is giving the best of his Intime performances in the role.

Though we ultimately do not know how to feel about his Ibsenite philanderings, we do see in Charteris a kind of admirable love of freedom and authenticity. He is something of a cad, but he is not a boor, and boorishness here is a graver crime than caddishness.

He spends the play attempting to rid himself of the attentions of Julia Craven, a former mistress (Michele LaRue), in order to marry a cool and Ibsenite widow, Grace Tranfield (Pat Gorman). These two women are so opposite that Shaw's point is made through their playing alone.

Miss Gorman, graceful, calm and beautiful simply to think about, is more than equal to Charteris: in a small sense, she informs us of the tragedy implicit in Charteris's attitude toward love. In a larger sense, she defines womanhood with dignity.

The womanly woman, Miss LaRue, cries and whines to the point of invisibility as a human being. Her playing is the embodiment of kittenism, lap-dogism, and sexual play-thing-ism. It is a performance that all conscious women ought to recognize immediately.

A Welcome Discovery. This play is a discovery for me, and it ought to be discovered by anyone who is fatigued by mindlessness everywhere. It is a truly funny play. Daniel Haughey's Dr. Paramore is Shaw's nod to physicians and scientists; I doubt that a more devastating attack has ever been directed toward that enclave.

Howard Leathers and James Shankman portray the parents of the two women as though they were museum relics of the Unadvanced Age. They seem to creak and sway in a valuable and amusing Victorian counterpoint to the creeping Ibsenism of their children. Finally, Helena Snow's Ibsenite younger Craven sister, Sylvia, is a contrast to both older women; she seems to give up womanliness altogether, and it is somehow delightful.

Peter Breger's direction, though it seems to include a lot of pacing back and forth, is rarely awkward, and it allows us to hear the text of the

TWO NIGHT STAND SET
For "Death of a Salesman." The four leading characters in The Pennington School production of Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman" are G. Arthur Campbell, a Pennington faculty member; Dickie Hall and Carl Inglesby, Pennington students, and Terry Solomon, a student at Hopewell Valley Central High School. The play is being presented on Thursday and Friday nights.

Other members of the cast from The Pennington School are Mark Felice, Bob Fried, Mark O'Neill, Randy Patricelli and Jeff Ware. The other four girls from Hopewell Valley High are Lynn Bertolino, Mary Beth Huddleson, Karen Kohl and Meg Kearney.

The play will be performed at 8 nightly in the old section of the Sparks Memorial Gymnasium. The first evening of the play will be reserved for The Pennington School student body and faculty. The second evening will be open to the general public at a cost of $1 per person.

INTIME GETTING READY

For Summer Season. A seven-day-a-week theatre is in the planning stages for Summer Intime, which will celebrate its fifth season this year.

Four major dramatic events will be blocked in for Thursdays-through-Sundays, starting June 29 and continuing until August 20. A children's show, with matinee performances throughout the second half of the summer and an expanded film series with 21 films, will round out Summer '72.

The complete schedule will be announced in a few weeks, according to Daniel F. Berkowitz, who will be general manager for the season. Mr. Berkowitz, a 1970 graduate of Princeton University, is well-known to audiences as both director and actor. His most recent accomplishment was the production of Brendan Behan's "The Hostage," done for Theatre Intime earlier this season.

FROM ARGENTINA . . .

Documentary Scheduled. "La Hora de los Hornes," a four-and-one-half-hour documentary film from Argentina, will be shown over a two-day period at McCarter during the theatre's May Movie Festival.

Part I will be screened this Wednesday at 8 p.m. and Parts II and III this Thursday, all at 8 p.m. Tickets are on sale from 6 p.m. each day.

LONG AGO TOMORROW, the new film at the Garden, stars Malcolm McDowell and Nanette Newman in a well-oiled tale of star-crossed lovers.

McCart has also scheduled complete and uncut, "The Damned" for this Saturday, at 8 p.m. The version of Visconti's 1970 film recently shown on television was cut by about 40 minutes. The uncut version includes most of the elements which resulted in the film's "X" rating.

"The Damned", with Dirk Bogarde, Helmut Berger and Ingrid Thulin, explores Germany on the eve of Nazi power.

"La Hora de los Hornos," from the hand of Fernando Solanas, has been described as the South American equivalent to "The Battle of Algiers." Although Solanas' message calls for a people's revolution, the film is said to be more than polemic. It juxtaposes news clips, commentary, statistics, quotations, interviews and original footage.

"ANTIGONE"
In Anouilh Version. Members of the Princeton High School French Club, other PHS students and University undergraduates will give Jean Anouilh's "Antigone" in French next Wednesday, at 8 p.m., in the band-room of Princeton High. Admission is 50c.

This is the first production in many years to be given at the high school in French. Barbara Czarnecki is producer.

MUSIC In Princeton

CONCERT TUESDAY

For Flute and Piano, Constance Boykan, flutist, and David Abramovitz, pianist, will give a concert sponsored by Woodrow Wilson College at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, at the Woolworth Center of Musical Studies at Princeton University. The concert is open to the public without charge.

Mrs. Boykan is a graduate of Brandeis University where she was a scholarship student of Boston Symphony flutist James Pappoutsakis. During the past few years she has given numerous concerts as well as participated in chamber music programs throughout New England. She has played many first performances of contemporary works.

Mr. Abramovitz received a cum laude degree in music from Princeton in 1970 where he was the founder and artistic director of the Princeton Opera Theater. He then went to Rome where he studied under Bruno Canino as the recipient of a Fulbright Scholarship.

He is presently studying in New York under Robert Helps, and has most recently played at the Lincoln Center Library for the Performing Arts. He and Mrs. Boykan have been working as a duo for almost a year.

The program will include works by Hummel, Gressel, Messaien, Bussotti, Boulez, Davidovsky and Schubert.

FIVE SCHOOLS TO JOIN

In Hayden Mass. The musical clubs of five independent schools will join in a choral festival in the Edith Memorial Chapel on the campus of The Lawrenceville School on Sunday. The 150-voice choir and 35-piece orchestra will be under the direction of Clinton Doolittle, organist at Lawrenceville.

The participating schools and their directors are: Stuart County Day School, Princeton, Kaye Walker; St. Mary's Hall, Burlington, Ancy Borton; The Peddie School, Hightstown, William Darst; Princeton Day School, Frank Jacobsen; and The Lawrenceville School, Mr. Doolittle.

The group will perform Haydn's Mass No. 2 in C (Paukenmesse), which Mr. Doolittle describes as a "work of unusual beauty and drama." The work, composed in 1796 in Eisenstadt, then Hungary, now Austria, has two subtitles: one, given by Haydn himself, is "Missa in Tempore Belli" (Mass in Time of War), so-called because at that time Napoleon was in the throes of battle with Italy and Austria. The orchestration that Haydn used seems to have been inspired by that war because he uses the "war" instrument, the kettle drums, to an unusual degree, hence the nickname "Paukenmesse" (Drum Mass).

PIANO RECITAL SATURDAY
Stuart Surick to Perform. Stuart Surick, pianist will be presented by the Friends of Music in a recital this Saturday evening, at 8:30 in Woolworth Center.

Mr. Surick, a graduate of Princeton University, is currently studying with Sascha Gornitzki of the Juilliard School, and is planning to enter several piano competitions in Europe this summer.

His program will be Beethoven: Sonata in E Major, Opus 109; Brahms: Paganini Variations (Books I and II); Chopin: Two Nocturnes; and Ravel: Le Tombeau de Couperin.

Vocal Marathon. Students of Shirlee Emmons, Richard Shadley and Madeline Chambers (vocal teachers at the Princeton University Music Department) will be presented in a vocal marathon on Sunday from 7 to 10 p.m. in Woolworth Center.

Highlights of the program will include Rossini's Regatta.

IT'S NEW To Us

ANTIQUERS' ALERT:

Den of Antiquity Opens. Barbara and Sam Letta have indulged their interest in old things by opening up a shop in Kingston, calling it "The Den of Antiquity." You'll find the Den on the right near the Kingston Bridge.

Inside, we found an oval table of white wicker with a glass top ($40) and a Victorian "turtle top" table of walnut with white marble top; a school calendar clock, and a fair amount of friction toys.

Barbara Letta, a young and cheery soul in blue jeans, will show you the collection of "store items" she has, such as a ceramic butter container, a bakery flour sifter, an original Rochester brass lamp with a tin waffle shade. (The lamp is wired for electricity but can be de-converted to kerosene.)

The coffin intrigued us. This is a salesman's sample coffin about 18 inches long and made of white pine. Inside, rich white velvet lining and cushion. We learned that this is quite a collector's item. Some people like the coffin as is; others will convert it to jewelry or silver boxes.

The Den of Antiquity has a cylinder music box, like the old Reginas. The single disc plays a waltz. The box is about 15-inches square, with an inlaid lid, and a quaint picture of cupids on the underside.

Unusual Desk. There's a curious "foulweather" desk gleaned from some dismantled ship.

The lid has a porthole in it, and as you raise the lid, canvas windbreaks rise on either side. The name of the game is do your desk work and peer out the porthole to see what you're missing.

Mrs. Letta showed us Americana curios—such as a plaster statuette of Uncle Sam rolling up his sleeves, with "Let's All Fight" on the disc beside him. And also an old cupboard for storing jelly. Made of cherry and pine, it is a fairly huge piece, functional and simple.

The Den of Antiquity has a scattering of antique jewelry. We browsed through gold pocket watches, gentlemen's pocket knives (as opposed to switchblades) with mother-of-pearl or sterling silver handles. There's an oval brooch of Victorian design: butterfly wings under glass, encircled in English sterling.

Also from the Gracious Days, as some call them, a minute sewing kit for the traveling lady, equipped with thimble, beeswax, a hand-painted silk tape measure and a needle sharpener—all in a red-lined tortoiseshell box maybe three inches long by one and a half inches wide. And you may be interested in the exquisite needle case of mother-of-pearl, a glowing tube, found with other sewing items in a palm-size leather case.

Clock from Tiffany. Browning the Den of Antiquity, we found a Tiffany car clock. Haviland fruit dishes; a hand-blown Easter egg of glass, a brass pail, a copper saucepan, some hat pins, including one of rose medallion china, a Danish crank phone adapted for dialing, and two handsome spool chests from the notions counters—which collectors use for jewelry boxes and table silver chests.

Take Amtrak West

Railroad buffs will be interested in the tours of the West by rail, worked out by Cooks in conjunction with Amtrak. Ask Revere Travel at 29 Palmer Square West about the "Circle the West" trip—15 days from Chicago, taking the SuperChief to Flagstaff, Arizona. There's a side trip to the Grand Canyon, then the sleeper to L.A. Visits to the old missions near Fresno, to Disneyland, and to the Sequoia and Yosemite Parks are by motor coach. Then by rail from San Francisco to Denver.

The "Best of the West" is a 21-day trip via Amtrak, adding Portland, Oregon, Yellowstone and Glacier Parks to the tour.

This is the 100th anniversary of the founding of Yellowstone, the first National Parks and a centennial medallion will be given by Cooks to its clients.

There are also several typical antique shop statuettes of brass: a young Dutch girl sowing grain and a companion male figure with a hoe.

Mrs. Letta took us downstairs to show us the oak pedestal table—or at least parts of it. The pedestal stands alone; the white marble top nearly four feet in diameter is nearby carefully laid on the floor, and the pedestal supports, four hand-carved tigers, are being refinished. The whole thing is going to end up as a cocktail table, Mrs. Letta says.

The Den of Antiquity is open 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily; on Saturdays and Sundays it is open until 6 p.m.

FREE PASSPORT PHOTOS

At Revere Travel, Palmer Square now has a travel agency, and you'll find Revere Travel between the Nassau Shoe Tree and the Shutterbug. Britt Palmer, no relation to the Square, is managing director. He was with United Air Lines for four years and for ten years headed the American Express office here in town. "We offer the travel services any agency does, plus three that are not offered by all agencies," Mr. Palmer remarked last week in the attractive new office. "We arrange for free passport photos—taken right here; free delivery service for all commercial accounts, and typed itineraries for all bookings."

Revere Travel, he told us, was established in 1922. There are offices in Hamilton Square and on Pennington Road in Trenton. "It is the largest retail travel agency in Mercer County," he said.

The Princeton Office opened May 1, and started off with three round-trip bookings to London and one round-tripper to Rome.

Mrs. Phyllis Peck, former manager of the Hamilton office, occupies the Number Two desk. We were startled to learn that she took a tour of Alaska in January.

"It was great!" she says. "Sitka with the Russian influence was the most interesting place I saw. Alaska Airlines served us hot, spiced tea. We were supplied with parkas and went up to Nome where we had a dogsled ride, fished through the ice..." She says many more of the Alaska tours are available in the summer, with the Inland Passage cruise the most popular way to get there.

For Fishermen. Britt Palmer spent ten days on South Andros Island not too long ago. He stayed at the 24-room Los Palamos Hotel, the only inn on the island. "There's nothing else there—but it is a great place for fishing. I'm a fisherman, and I enjoyed it."

As seasoned travel agents.

both have booked unusual trips and tours for clients. Mrs. Peck has made arrangements for a number of hunting and fishing trips in the wilds of Canada. In the same vein, Mr. Palmer made arrangements for the captain of the U.S. Tuna Team, Roger Derbyshire, to fish for black marlin on the Great Barrier Reef off Australia. "He and a friend caught 28 black marlin — weighing up to 1,000 to 1,100 pounds!" Mr. Palmer says with respect. They usually get a fair amount of customer feedback — customers who have a problem and customers who write on an almost day-to-day basis about the hotels and how their trip is coming along. Mr. Palmer booked both of the Fighting 69th Tours of Europe. "The second time they gave me a scroll, maybe 17 feet long, on which everybody on the trip wrote his comments..."

Tours Emphasized. Revere Travel does both individual and tour bookings, with emphasis on the latter. "I think the traveler gets more for his money on a group tour than he would by traveling alone. The group air fare is a big saving; there's inexpensive transfer from airport to hotel; a break on sightseeing costs and the hotel rate," Britt Palmer comments. "Pre-packaging is the least expensive way to see the most."

Here are some current tour offerings through Revere. (The advice given is to book six months ahead for a tour and up to a year ahead for a cruise.)

Scandinavian, or "North Cape" trips, are big this year: the deluxe versions by Maupintour, the regular or economy packaged "Trails of Scandinavia" by United Air Lines and Scandinavian Airlines, a Four Winds Offering.

Maupintour has eleven escorted tours that range from 15 days traveling to the northern capitals and fjords in a group limited to 28 to 34 guests to a 36-day tour that includes the Soviet Union. You travel by train, boat, motorcoach and air. The planning includes conveniences and opportunities for leisure time explorations.

Budget Tours Available. "Trails" offers 16 and 22-day escorted vacations at $297 up plus airfare. There are four budget and six first-class tours. Prices include air fare, transfers, hotels with private bath, most meals, sightseeing, tour escort, tips and taxes, and surface transportation. Glaciers, Fjords, Hamlet's Elsinore, Stockholm — the Venice of the North; smorgashord, Viking ships in Oslo — and more.

Four Winds has some imaginative ideas that include Finland, Lapland, the North Cape, Russia, British Isles — and Dalmatia, offered in a great variety.

For a fly-and-drive tour, Revere has a good word for the new one-week-in-Athens proposal of Olympic Airways that adds a choice of a dozen one- or two-week sorties into Greece, Paris, or Turkey. What you get is the round trip jet flight between New York and Athens, and a car for nine days with unlimited mileage, or a Railpass, and other odds and ends such as accommodations in Athens for four nights with breakfast, a city tour, and guesthouse accommodations for nine nights in a small village within a day's drive of Athens.

The arrangements are very fluid, spend one night in Athens and auto tour for two weeks if you want, or cruise the islands for eight days; or island hop to Crete and Rhodes; or four nights in Athens, four nights on tour of Greece and five nights in Paris. The three-week proposal includes Turkey as well as Paris. Santa Sophia, Temple of Apollo, oriental bazaars, you may even see a spy in Ankara.

Art in Princeton

At University Art Museum. The exhibition of European and American Art from Princeton Alumni Collections lends distinction to the already impressive assemblage of art that has been displayed at the Museum this year. From both the aesthetic and the scholarly point of view, this collection makes a major contribution to the art world by placing on view many works not previously available to the public.

The concept of a masterpiece as a private possession instead of a public treasure adds the ultimate dimension to this unusually fine display. An almost visible patina seems to have been acquired by these paintings and sculpture which have lived, as they were intended, among people who could admire their beauty in a personal and private manner.

The degree of intimacy which must exist between the painting and its owner has added an extra set of vibrations to each work. There is a different kind of visual communication that does not appear in the same manner in works that have hung in the institutional atmosphere of a museum, no matter how beautiful its walls.

While the exhibition does not attempt to be representative of the history of art, it does chronologically cover a great deal of what has been artistically significant through time. It begins in the 11th century with a Byzantine Bloodstone and traverses 800 years of art to the immediate present. Major works from the most artistically significant eras are well represented.

Radiating their way to becoming stars of the show are the 19th century paintings. Some are typical of their time and painter, while others not seen before, reflect additional facets of the artists who created them. The color vibrates and the paint scintillates in works by Monet, Manet, Cezanne, Sisley, Degas and Gauguin. The richness of palette and visual excitement of this era create a special aura in this wing of the museum.

The quality of all the work on display is exceptional and represents some of the very best works of the very greatest artists. One can begin with the golden richness of the medieval world and follow the glow through Early Italian paintings.

Authentic Rembrandt. After the more formal Renaissance works, a Rembrandt, never before publicly displayed, reaches out with great intensity. In a time when the verification of Rembrandt paintings is often similar to a roller coaster or a revolving door, the one now on display has been verified by several authorities, making its presence even more significant.

The art of the 18th and 19th century is well represented, providing a fine historical foundation for the excellent range of 20th century art in this collection. One is able to trace evolution of the contemporary art form, albeit sometimes with giant steps, through the major changes of style and attitude that were part of the first half of this century.

The bridge through impressionism and cubism to the experiments with design and pattern that began before the 1940s are logically and attractively followed by a very fine selection of work created during the last three decades. Sculpture as well as painting is included in almost all aspects of this collection, enhancing one's perspective of the work on display.

The Princeton Museum and its many friends who helped create this show are to be commended. It has given both the University and the Princeton Community a significant collection presented most beautifully.

At Gallery 100. Watercolors by Donald Werden reflect another aspect of the same sensitivity and techniques that this artist has displayed in his familiar graphics. Realism, heightened by a strong feeling for pattern and light combined with effective use of white space as form has been characteristic of his engravings.

The same approach to subject is now revealed in the current watercolor exhibit at Gallery 100. A few prints are on display and provide both contrasts and similarities to the paintings. The same strong control of the medium is apparent and Mr. Werden creates a hyper-realism, using color to add another dimension on the subject.

Although watercolor is generally used as a fluid medium, the current collection reveals a very different and personal use of the paint. The artist has demonstrated his mastery of the flowing style in the past but in this grouping control of paint is everywhere. The artist used a highly disciplined approach to the paint to intensify an almost photographic use of pattern and texture.

Landscape, seacape, architectural studies and portraits all reflect a consistent level of skill. The use of white space as form provides a fine contrapuntal effect against the carefully wrought textures and patterns.

Consciousness I furniture from Cane Farm

The pioneer spirit is not merely alive; it thrives, in the spirited early American creations and re-creations at Cane Farm.

How did you get the most warmth from a walk in fireplace? You cuddled right up to it in a settle, that's how. The high back kept the heat from getting past you, so you got the most good from the least fuel. The original of this settle (late 1600's) is in the Metropolitan Museum. You can fill a foyer wall with our re-creation. It's 51" wide, 64 1/2" high.

Dry sink. Once a necessity, now a simple delight. We make them a dozen different ways. This one's Dutch. Yours can be any style you want.

The Rising Generation

Notes of an Observer

By Don Evans

Watching young people, black young people, in Princeton can be painfully interesting. Interesting because one can flip back to all of those early days of experience; real and imagined. There is a certain comfort in seeing the past repeated, even when the things of yesterday were things of ugliness and waste. Somehow one can be led to believe that familiarity with the situation will make the solutions easier. This is seldom the case. Recognizing that young blacks in Princeton are brothers in more than one sense, has not led to any worthwhile solutions.

So many young people walking the streets . . . Almost any hour of the day one can find an amazing number of men between the ages of 18 and 23 "hanging out" — moving from one corner to the next; from the square to the green. They are jobless young men with time weighing too heavily on their hands. They'd have jobs if jobs were available to them. Up and down the business streets can be seen stores and offices filled with people learning and doing, but they are mostly white. Young blacks seldom come out of high school and secure challenging jobs right away. Too often, those who are able to secure some kind of employment are programmed into menial jobs with no future and no challenge. Their talents are seldom used and employers define their lack of interest as a lack of ability.

Recently, a young student asked whether these explanations weren't excuses for laziness — running my mind back to the most insulting of stereotypes concerning black people in this country. It is probably too late to begin a discourse on the way people deal with continuous frustration — the kind that results when one is constantly told that one is "unqualified," but one wonders at the difficulty of pretending employment when there is none; at seeming ambitions when there are no avenues for activity. The excuses given anxious young blacks lead to street corner hustling, two-bit burglary, and all the other sicknesses that typify the Princeton problem. To talk of drugs would only be redundant given the time and space devoted to skirting the issues with discussions of legalizing, rather than salvaging those sick with the disease.

The Rising Generation of Black Princetonians must be a working generation. Talents must be utilized and given an opportunity to develop. It appears that Princeton is content to talk about "jobs," young people, and whatever else raises its ugly head and becomes public enough for concern, but what is really needed is a commitment to hire with need as the basic priority; to recognize the truth of the "last to hire, first to fire" adage. Special treatment, it seems, is definitely in order.

something emotionally compelling.

Malcolm McDowell and Nanette Newman, as paraplegics confined to wheelchairs, offer fine and sensitive performances, bringing alive the special world in which they live. Bryan Forbes wrote the script and directed. The film was originally released in England under the title "The Raging Moon."

Ryan's Daughter now playing) takes place in a remote village on the western coast of Ireland during World War I. The British who occupy the village are so hated by the natives that they hope the Germans will win the war.

Ryan is the tavern keeper. His daughter Rosy persuades a widowed school teacher to marry her, only to be disappointed by his prowess in bed. Along comes a handsome British major and for him and Rosy it is love at first sight. The villagers get wind of the affair and Rosy is ostracized. She is also suspected of being an informer against an Irish rebel group and is stripped and shorn of her hair — a scene repeated in recent weeks near Belfast. In fact, director David Lean is saying something about the Irish that may well apply today.

Sarah Miles is Ryan's daughter; Christopher Jones the major; Robert Mitchum is the rapid teacher and Leo McKern is Ryan. Towering over all is Trevor Howard as Father Collins, the earthy, strong-willed priest.

In "Zhivago," Lean established mood with his great scenes of the Russian winter; in "Ryan's Daughter," it is the sea — serene and shining in the sunlight, then raging in a storm.

Music In Princeton

PHS CHOIRS TO SING

The selections span the 12th to the 20th Centuries; the languages English, German, Hebrew and Latin, and the derivations both Old and New Testament. Naneianne B. Parcella is accompanist.

This is the final event in the PIC Education Committee's series devoted to "Compatibility and Conflict: A Search for Religious Understanding." The committee hopes that the concert will become an annual event.

"It is a statement through vocal music and the narration of the oneness of man under God," comments Wesley W. Walton, committee chairman. "This event underlines the challenging idea that the commonalities among religions have more power to unite than to divide, that unity in God joins the people, black and white, Christians and Jews, Catholics and Protestants, old and young in a common faith, a sense of common destiny, and unity of action." There is no admission fee. A free-will offering will be taken.

RECITAL TUESDAY

By Voice Students. Voice students of Evelyn Bloom will present a song recital on Thursday, May 18, at 8 p.m. in the Choir Room of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

A varied program will include early Italian literature, folk songs from France, England and America, operatic arias and contemporary music by Duke and Barber.

The young singers appearing include Lynn Ann Merrill, Lisa Gibbs, Alyssa Oxley, Marsha Van Dyck, Sandy Oxley and Mindy Jones.

Three instrumentalists will assist the singers. Violinists Bonnie Beggs and Julius Ziemba and pianist Steven Barczay will join Mindy Jones in a Buxtehude cantata, "My Jesus is My Lasting Joy". Seventeen year old Steven is the recent winner of the Anna B. Stokes Music Scholarship, and will close the program with works of Schubert and Scriabine. The public is invited.

FINAL MEETING SUNDAY

For Musical Amateurs. The last meeting of this season for the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will be held on Sunday afternoon, at 5 p.m. at the Unitarian Church. The program will be Haydn's "Paukenmesse."

The conductor will be Joseph Kovacs, the soloists: June Tipton, soprano; Mary-Alice Witte, alto; Michael Sylvester, tenor; and William Trego, bass.

In addition to members of the Society, musically interested persons are invited to participate or attend, and should contact Mrs. M.B. Gottlieb at 921-7214 if they wish to do so. There is a small charge for non-members to cover music and refreshments.

People In The News

Three Princeton residents have been appointed to top-level administrative posts with the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, which now has assets around $1.2 billion, after receiving last year the bequest of General Johnson, who died in 1968.

Robert J. Blendon, 1087 Great Road, will be vice-president for Planning and development. He recently served in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare as special assistant for policy development in health and scientific affairs. A graduate of the University of Chicago School of Business, he holds a master of public health and a doctor of science degree from Johns Hopkins University.

Terrance Keenan, 179 Hamilton Avenue, who has served with the Commonwealth Fund for seven years, has been named senior executive associate. A Yale Honors graduate, Mr. Keenan served as board secretary at Commonwealth and directed much of his attention toward programs designed to improve medical education and community health. He has also served on the staff of the Ford Foundation for nine years.

Stuart Carothers, 125 Library Place, has been appointed secretary of the Foundation. He had been in the general practice of law here and had previously served in legal and administrative positions at Princeton University and an aerospace company.

Daniel N. White, 64 Western Way, a member of the Princeton University Administration for the past four years, has been elected Secretary of The Alumni Council, governing body of Princeton's 40,000-member Alumni Association. Effective July 1, the 29-year-old member of the Class of 1965 will succeed David G. Rahr, who last January was named Director of the Council.

A native of Washington, D.C., and president of his class at Washington's Woodrow Wilson Senior High School, White has combined his administrative duties at Princeton with coaching. For the past three years he has served as head coach of varsity 150-pound football, the sport in which he was an outstanding offensive and defensive halfback as a Princeton undergraduate.

First as Assistant Secretary, and for the past two years as Associate Secretary of the Alumni Council, White has worked closely with Princeton's 100 regional alumni associations and has played a major role in developing Princeton's now annual Alumni College, which next month will draw some 125 alumni and others to the Princeton Inn College for a week-long "term of study" devoted to the theme "America: Culture of Change."

Robert J. Olson, 7 Springwood Drive, Princeton Junction, has been named assistant vice-president of American Re-Insurance Co.

Mr. Olson joined the company in 1967 as a management trainee and was named as assistant secretary in 1970. A graduate of Lake Forest (Ill.) College, he was previously with Allstate Insurance Co.

Dr. William Derbyshire, 391 Franklin Avenue, associate professor of Russian at Rutgers College has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship for the academic year 1972-73.

Dr. Derbyshire will live in Zagreb, Yugoslavia, where he will do research in the field of Slavic linguistics. As a Fulbright Scholar he will receive a grant to support his work and will take a leave of absence from the State University.

Dr. Derbyshire has been a member of the Rutgers College staff since 1969. Educated at the University of Pennsylvania, he has taught at the State University of New York and Lycoming College.

Mrs. Iva B. Barros, 38 Marion Road, has been inducted into Phi Sigma Iota, national Romance language honor society at Rutgers College.

Gordon D. Griffin of 160 Leabrook Lane will be among the key participants at the New Jersey State Bar Association's 74th Annual Meeting, scheduled for May 18-20, in Atlantic City. Mr. Griffin, who is chairman of the State Bar's Local Government Law Section, will preside at a discussion of new methods of school financing.

Sheldon Judson, 18 Aiken Avenue, Knox Taylor Professor of Geography and Chairman of the Department of Geological and Geophysical Sciences, has been named Chairman of the Princeton University Research Board.

Effective July 1, Dr. Judson will succeed Professor Lyman Spitzer Jr., Young Professor of Astronomy, who has chaired the Board for the past 5 years. The Chairman of the Research Board has administrative rank in the University equivalent to Dean.

Fairman to Retire after 38 Years at Princeton

R. Kenneth Fairman, under whose guidance every major athletic facility now in use except Carnegie Lake, Baker Rink and Palmer Stadium was built at Princeton, will retire as Director of Athletics on December 31.

On that date, Fairman, who is also chairman of the Department of Athletics and Physical Education, will complete 35 years in charge of the intercollegiate program and more than 39 in the University's service. A committee is being formed to select his successor.

President Robert F. Goheen, announcing Fairman's decision to take early retirement, said that he will be on leave of absence from January through June, 1973, and will be available during that period on a consulting basis. Now 60, he is dean of the Ivy League's directors of athletics.

"Over the years," President Goheen said, "Ken Fairman has brought to the position of Director of Athletics the highest standards of personal integrity together with a strong concern for the good of participating students and the principles of amateur sportsmanship. Princeton will long be in his debt."

SPORTS in Princeton

Outstanding Athlete. A native of Spring Valley, N.Y., and one of the great all-around athletes in the modern-day history of Princeton athletics, Fairman in 1947 became the first Chairman of the newly organized Department of Athletics and Physical Education that brought together in one office responsibilities formerly divided between the Department of Health and Physical Education and the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics.

A member of the Class of 1934 at Princeton, where he majored in architecture, Fairman was voted 1934's "Best All-Around Athlete." Winning eight varsity letters (three in football, three in basketball and two in lacrosse), he captained the varsity basketball team and was twice a unanimous selection for All-Eastern League forward. In his senior year, he was an All-Eastern end and was mentioned in All-American lists in both football and basketball.

In recognition of "his sportsmanship, play and influence," Fairman during senior year won both the John Prentiss Poe Football Cup and the B. Franklin Bunn Basketball Trophy. As an undergraduate he was a class officer, a member of the Undergraduate Council, one of the two student representatives on the Board of Athletic Control and Director of the Princeton Summer Camp at Blairstown.

Coached Basketball. One of the best-known administrators of college athletics in the country, and an architect of the Ivy League Agreement, Fairman has been associated with Princeton sports since graduation. From 1934 until 1938, he was assistant to the officers of the Princeton Athletic Association and also, starting at age 22, served as head coach of basketball as well as an assistant coach in football and lacrosse.

On January 1, 1938 he succeeded Asa S. Bushnell, former Commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, as Acting Graduate Manager of Princeton Athletics. Becoming Graduate Manager in 1938, he was advanced to the directorship of the intercollegiate athletic program in June 1941, the year before he entered the Armed Forces.

He began his Army service in March 1942 as a first lieutenant, Armor-Reserve, and rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel before returning to the campus in the fall of 1945. He served in the European Theater of Operations and was twice decorated for outstanding performance of duty as a member of the staff of General Jacob L. Devers, 6th Army commander.

Other Sports on Page 20

He was also awarded the Croix de Guerre by the French Government. Promoted to the grade of Colonel, USAR, in 1953, he commanded an Army Strategic Intelligence Reserve Detachment until his retirement from the Active Reserve in March 1967.

Facilities Expanded. Under Fairman's leadership, Princeton's athletic plant has undergone considerable change and expansion. A large part of the sports complex is now centered in the proximity of Palmer Memorial Stadium, with the multi-purpose L. Stockwell Jadwin Gymnasium and the Charles W. Caldwell Jr. Memorial Field House for local points. Football, soccer, baseball and lacrosse fields are adjacent to the area while such sports as basketball, wrestling, squash, fencing, track and tennis are conducted in Jadwin. Construction of 37 outdoor tennis courts, erection of a much-needed rowing tank for use by oarsmen, extensive renovation of Hobart Baker Memorial Rink and the completion of nine athletic fields honoring the memory of illustrious names in Princeton's history (Campbell, Clarke, Finney, Frelinghuysen, Gulick, Pardee, Sexton and Strubing) have been among the highlights of Fairman's tenure.

His decision to retire ahead of the mandatory 65 is explained simply. "After 38 years of Princeton, I'm ready for a change of pace — possibly for a new kind of life in which I can pursue long-neglected interests such as travel and study. In general, though, I feel that age differential in the sphere of athletics is important. It's important in coaching and it's important in the area of educational administration."

Fairman has also played a major role in the Community of Princeton. He served as Mayor of the Township of Princeton for the five-year period 1959-63 inclusive, helped organize the Princeton Council of Community Services and continues to serve on the board of Trustees of the Medical Center at Princeton.

The Best Warranty This Side of a Rolls-Royce

You can't put a price on the warranty you get with a Volkswagen. You see, a Volkswagen warranty runs twice as long as anybody else's small car warranty. And only one car, the Rolls-Royce, has one better.

Here's how ours works: All you do is maintain the car according to the Volkswagen maintenance schedule. If any factory part is found to be defective in material or workmanship within 24 months or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first (except normal wear and tear on service items) any U.S. or Canadian VW dealer will repair or replace it free of charge. See your dealer for details.

More Than 5,000 Inspections Per Car

The story behind our warranty starts at the factory. Where 1,104 nit-picking inspectors have one job, and one job only. To find something wrong with a Volkswagen before that Volkswagen finds its way out of the factory.

Every one of the more than 5,000 parts that go into a VW is carefully examined. Some of them get the once-over two or three times. If one of our inspectors is unhappy with only one of the parts, the whole car gets pulled off the line. Sometimes we pull as many as 225 VWs a day. But it's worth it. We pick the lemons. You get the plums.

The Most Advanced Service System In The World

No other car maker anywhere can offer you Medi-car, Volkswagen's ultrasensitive Electronic Diagnosis. It's designed to spot problems in your Volkswagen when they're at the minor adjustment stage. Long before they can do any real damage to your car or your wallet. Every one of our dealers has VW Diagnosis. And you get the first four check-ups free with a new VW.

The Highest Resale Value

Based on what's happened in the past, no other economy car on the road holds its value after 3 or 4 years as well as a Volkswagen. So, if you're thinking about buying a new car, think about what it's going to be worth when it's an old car. Because when the time comes to part company with your VW, you won't be left holding the bag. Unless that's what you carry your money in.

TIGERS STILL IN RACE

But Will Need Help. If Dartmouth's baseball team wins its final three games this weekend (one against Yale, two with Brown), it will capture the Eastern League title for the second time in three years.

If the Indians stumble, Princeton, Harvard and Cornell would still have a shot at finishing first, although a tie and subsequent playoff is possible. The picture is further complicated by a tie game that Dartmouth played with Penn, a result which goes into the standings and creates a half-game gap between the Indians and the other three contenders.

Princeton and Harvard, rained out here on April 16 and again last week, were scheduled to try to make up their second seven-inning game this Wednesday on Clarke Field. The Tigers will then head for West Point Friday for a single game with Army and for Ithaca Saturday, where they will play a twin bill against Cornell. Despite their recent surge (seven straight league victories, including three doubleheaders) the odds of their going three-for-three in this weekend's road games are not in their favor.

A "Laughter" over Penn. Rarely does a team in the well-balanced Eastern League enjoy a one-sided triumph over any of its nine opponents, but the Tigers found all the going downhill Friday as they coasted to a 12-2 victory over Pennsylvania. While junior right hander Bill Coppedge was hurling seven innings of shutout ball, Princeton rolled along for a dozen runs, aided by half a dozen Quaker errors.

Sophomore first baseman Ken Beytin led the attack with three hits, while Bill Binder, John Davren and Steve Brown all collected two-base blows. Davren's, coming in the home half of the fifth, drove in two of the eight runs the Tigers scored that inning.

Saturday was marked by a come-from-behind rally in each game as the Orange and Black edged Navy, 3-2 and 2-1. Sophomore Steve Crandall's fine relief work sewed up both contests, as he pitched three tight, scoreless innings. In the opener, he fanned the final two batters after two bases on balls and an infield error loaded the bases.

The first game was won in the bottom of the fifth when Princeton erased a 2-run Navy lead with three of its own. Pinch hitters Steve Loy and Larry Chollet both singled to left, shortstop Jeff Davis following with a perfect bunt to load the bases.

A single by Davren, a walk to Binder and a wild pitch each scored a run. The total productivity should have been considerably higher, with the meat of the batting order at the plate, but when starter Randy Blevins needed help in the top of the sixth, Crandall was equal to the assignment.

Navy managed its lone run of the game in the third inning of the nightcap off senior Steve McLean but saw its slim advantage fall in the last of robust hitting of the day.

Binder's walk was followed by a hit-and run play on which Pete Korsan laced a sharp

Actually no more than a single,
the hit allowed Binder to score and Korsan to reach second on the relay to the plate.
Beytin's rifle-shot double over third then delivered Korsan with the final run of the afternoon.

The victory was saved for Coach Eddie Donovan's nine with one of the most spectacular catches a Princeton outfielder has contributed in years.
Rightfielder Steve Brown hacked up on the warning track for a towering fly, hit by Navy's Gary Behney with a runner aboard.

Timing his leap perfectly,
Brown came down with the ball, struck the fence and somersaulted out of the ball park. Navy coach Joe Duff, insisting it should have been ruled a home run, finished the game under protest, but since it was a judgment play which the umpires called "out," there is no formal consideration to follow.

SEASON NEARS END

Home Contests Over. All
Princeton spring sports teams will be in action away from home this weekend, most of them completing their 1972 seasons.

The Tiger heavyweight and 150-lb. crews will row in the Eastern Sprint Championships at Worcester, with Harvard the favorite to win both. The Orange and Black heavies will do well to qualify for the finals, although they made a better showing than expected at Ithaca Saturday when they lost to Cornell in the Carnegie Cup race by no more than a deck length. Yale was third by two lengths.

On the Charles River, the 150-lb. crew saw its unbeaten season come to an end when Harvard triumphed in the Goldthwait Cup race by two lengths. The Crimson has not lost a regular season race in four years.

Coach Larry Ellis' track team defeated Yale, 91 to 63, at New Haven Saturday, thus winning its first Big Three title in 40 years. The Heptagonals are on the schedule Saturday at Philadelphia; despite their new-found supremacy over Harvard and Yale, the Tigers are not on a par with Penn, Cornell and Army.

Princeton's lacrosse team will finish its season at Hanover, with the ability to make last-place Dartmouth its second victim of the spring in the Ivy race. The Tigers had their biggest triumph in several years within reach Saturday on Finney Field, before losing to Cornell, 9-8.

National champions in 1971, and now a repeat victor in the Ivy race this spring, the Red trailed consistently. Shortly before the fourth period ended, however, Cornell drew even at 8-all and, with 20 seconds left, scored the goal that won the game.

Princeton's golf team placed third in the Eastern Intercollegiate at New Haven, compiling a two-day total of 623.
Penn State, defending champion with Yale, was the victor with 614. Villanova, eight strokes behind, was the runner-up.

Upset, 5-4, by Pennsylvania on Friday, Princeton's tennis team defeated Navy, 8-1, Saturday and will complete its regular schedule this weekend.

PDS CHANCES DWINDLE

For Penn-Jersey Title. A 4-2 loss at the hands of its chief rival for the Day School title in the Penn-Jersey League struck a severe blow to the Princeton Day baseball team's chances of repeating a division champion this year.

Germantown Friends picked up the victory giving it a 4-2 mark in league play, as against a 2-3 record for the Panthers. Germantown still has league powers, Hun and Pennington left, however, so PDS is not out of the running, if it can win its remaining games.

At 3:15 Friday it will play at Bryn Athyn, and next Wednesday at Pennsylvania School for the Deaf. A home game against PSD was set for this Wednesday. A rained-out game against George School may be rescheduled if needed.

The Blue and White faced the same Germantown pitcher this time as in the teams' first meeting, but could not muster much of an offense. Nine players struck out, only four got hits, and the Panthers' two runs in the sixth inning were a gift of the Germantown catcher, who dropped a third strike with two out and fired the ball over the first base-man's head, allowing two runners on base to score.

Germantown won the game with three runs in the second inning off PDS starter Mark Ellsworth. He was relieved in the second by John Boyd, who pitched fine ball the rest of the way, giving up one run in the sixth.

The Panthers definitely felt the loss of co-captain Kirk Moore, who sat out with a pulled hamstring muscle.
Moore has been hitting around .450.

PDS WINS TENNIS TITLE

Crucial PHS Match Friday.
Princeton Day School's undefeated varsity tennis team clinched the Penn-Jersey title with back-to-back shut-outs of George School and Germantown Friends Thursday and Friday. The Blue and White dropped only one set in the dual routs.

The Panthers' big match will come this Friday against Princeton High School, which is also undefeated. PHS won the match between the two schools last year, handing PDS its only defeat of the season.
The match is set for 3:45 p.m. at the high school.

number one singles, 6-2, 6-4 in Thursday's match. That set the pace, as Jerem Gordon, number two, beat Bob Davis 6-2, 6-0, and Buzz Woodworth took Chris Johnson 6-3, 6-1.

Evan and Greg Bash, at first doubles, defeated John Powell and John Hoffman three and four, David Straut and Chris Miller dropped their first set 1-6, but went on to defeat Bob Levin and Rich Steele 6-3, 6-4.

The team moved into high gear against Germantown Friends on Friday, losing only 13 games in the match. Playing in the same order, Steve Bash defeated Jim Feinberger 6-1, 6-0; Gordon defeated John Ruff 6-3, 6-1; Woodworth defeated Kim David 6-0, 6-1; Evan and Greg Bash defeated Tom Santille and Clifton Read 6-4, 6-2; and Straut and Miller took Andy Williams and Keith Dempster 6-2, 6-1.

PDS DROPS TWO MORE

In Lacrosse. High-scoring midfielder John Moore got his first hat trick of the season and brother Peter Moore added one more goal, but the brother act wasn't enough as the Princeton Day School lacrosse team dropped a 5-4 overtime decision Friday to St. Joseph's of Metuchen.

St. Joseph's scored with 20 seconds left in the first overtime period to win.

PDS took the early lead on Peter Moore's goal. Scoring was light but even, and it was 3-3 at the end of the third period. The fourth stanza was scoreless.

John Moore took the opening overtime face off in for his third goal, but St. Joseph's tied it up again on the next face-off, then put the game away as the clock ran out.

Earlier in the week, playing their best game of the season, PDS lost 8-6 to highly-favored Clifton High School, as Clifton's Mae Peek scored six straight goals. John Gordon got two for the Panthers, and Dave Barach, Giuff Ferrante, John Moore and Tim Hamid got one goal each.

PDS was scheduled to play a return match Wednesday against George School at the home field. George won the first of the home and home 9-6.

On Friday PDS will travel to New Brunswick to face Rutgers Prep for the second time. It defeated Rutgers Prep handily in the team's first meeting, for one of its two victories this season. The Panthers have lost six.

FARRAGUT SUNK, 15-2

By Hun School Nine. The day won't live in infamy but on Saturday the Future Admirals of Admiral Farragut suffered their own Pearl Harbor when visiting Hun School raked their pitching for 15 hits, many of them for extra bases, to sink Farragut, 15-2. "Our hitting is coming to life now," commented Hun coach Bill McQuade. With his team sound in all phases of the game, McQuade's biggest concern now is, "will we ever get all the games in." Two more were rained out last week and Hun is running out of open dates. The team is currently 6-2.

Hun will next oppose George School on Friday at 3:30, Cathedral High School on Saturday at 2 and Perkiomen on Wednesday at 2:30 — all at home. It was scheduled to play at Pennington this Wednesday afternoon.

It was a day for fattening batting averages against Farragut. Greg Rafalski drove in five runs on two hits, including a three-run homer in the fourth. The Hun catcher is batting .350.

Shortstop Pete Jones collected four hits in five appearances, including a triple and double. Jones is batting about .470, according to McQuade. Don Pone rapped out three hits, two of them doubles.

Charlie Figueroa snapped out of his slump with a pair of singles, knocking in four runs. Others with two hits were Chuck Sista and pitcher Dave Hock. Hock, a post-graduate student, who can work only non-league games, yielded four hits and struck out seven. His record is 2-0. He won his last start when he pitched Hun to a 9-2 win over Lawrenceville. "He's a tremendous pitcher," said McQuade.

PHS STICKMEN IDLED

By Rain. The only game scheduled for the Princeton High School lacrosse team last week — PHS vs. Hun — was rained out and has been reset for Monday.

In other games the Little Tigers will be at Hanover Park Saturday and Livingston on Wednesday. They were scheduled to play Peddie this Wednesday afternoon at 2 at Community Park. The game with Hun will be at Community Park, starting at 3:45.

Eight games into a 14-game schedule, PHS is presently 2-5-1.

PHS GIRLS TRIUMPH

Long Branch Relays Next. Dominating both the track and field events, the Princeton High School girls' track team turned the tables Friday on its tormentor for the past two years, defeating visiting Ranocas Valley, 73 one-half to 44 one-half.

"I was afraid they would be down psychologically," said coach Lamont Fletcher. "They had gotten up for three meets and then — boom — three meets are cancelled." As it turned out, neither the chilly weather nor the postponements had any effect on the Little Tigers as they won their third without a setback.

Saturday, PHS will compete in the Long Branch Relays where it is the defending state champion in the 1 seven-eighths mile relay. The Blue and White set the mark last year with a clocking of 10:05.5.

Only one of that record-setting quartet is back this year — Francie Walstad — and she may be displaced by Karen Winn who has come on this season. Joining Winn will be Lori Bowman, Diane Westover and freshman Cathy Woodbridge. PHS will also compete in the 440 and 880 relays.

On Monday, the girls will entertain Tom's River High School in a dual meet starting at 3:45.

Winn was a major contributor in the victory over Ranocas Valley (1-3). She won the 440 in 66.9 and the long jump, an event in which she is competing for the first time, with a leap of 14-5. In addition, she turned an apparent PHS defeat in the 880-yard relay into a dramatic victory when she made up some 20 yards on the last leg. Nadia El-Meligi, Walstad and Sandy Cobb ran the first three for PHS.

First for Javelin. Suzannah

Jeffay brought PHS its first victory this year in the javelin when she won the event with a toss of 75-7. Karen Brooks was second.

Team Captain Lori Bowman captured the 50-yard dash in 6.5 seconds. Karen Herzog won her specialty the 120-yard low hurdles in 17.7 and Diane Westover won the mile in 5:58.

Others: Kathy Woodbridge in the 880 (2:39.9) and Debbie Brooks in the shot (28-6). Gracie McEwen finished second in the 100-yard dash with a time of 12.8.

HO-HUM

PHS Netmen Win Again. The Princeton High School tennis team has won two more matches without the loss of a single set to bring its record this season to 9-0.

Early in the week, coach Bill Humes' squad blanked Christian Brothers, 5-0. On Friday, against Trenton here, with match consisting of four single battles in place of the unusual three singles and two doubles events, PHS triumphed 4-0.

Winning Little Tigers against Trenton were Michel Glouchevitch, Bill Schmidt, Richard Broad and Randy Thomas. Schmidt and Broad both won 6-0, 6-0.

On Friday, PHS should run — Continued on Next Page

into stiffer competition when it meets Princeton Day School on the PHS courts at 3:45. The Little Tigers will be at Ewing Tuesday.

SEASON OPENS
For Business Softball League. Play began last week in the Princeton Business Softball League, with fourteen teams, including two new entries, off in pursuit of the league's championship trophy. Seventeen weeks of regular season play will be followed by post-season playoffs to determine the winner.

Both new teams got a rough indoctrination into league play. Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Lab (GFDL) was whipped 18-9 by RCA B; and North American Phillips Lightning Co. (NAPLC) was bombed, 24-11, by McGraw-Hill.

Bill McDade started the season off with a bang, clouting two home runs and four hits overall for McGraw-Hill. Jim Johnson also had a four bagger and Bruce Belovin had three hits. Bob Schantz hit a grand slam home run, and Ron Edwards and Rich Schmidt also connected for the losers.

GFDL was held to one hit for five innings by RCA B's Bob Nielsen, allowing the winners to build up a substantial lead. Nielsen, who got four hits himself, held the losers to just five in all. Larry French and Joe Groppe hit homers for RCA.

Forrestal, which changed its name from Accelerator, got off to a three-run lead in the first inning and went on to defeat RCA A, 8-5. Lee Newirth had three hits for the winners, in support of pitcher Jack Bartow.

FMC's attack was in mid-season form, banging out 29 hits on the way to a 28-10 rout of American Cyanamid. Shortstop Bob Gibilisco had five hits, six RBI's, and handled 10 chances in the field without an error. Walt Bullock contributed four hits and batted five runs across.

Educational Testing Service rallied for six runs in the second inning, added seven more in the fourth and went on to down Firmenich, 17-9. In another game, Cities Service defeated Shearer Tree, 8-2.

Hopewell TV got off to its usual fast start, walloping ERC, 21-5. John Ruzcek and Joe Castora each had four hits, including a home run, and Steve Hahn and Carl Alden also hit homers for the winners.

SHILLABER IS VICTOR

In Springdale Golf, Bob Shillaber defeated Bill Mdlman, 3 and 2, in the final round of the President's Cup Tournament Sunday at Springdale Golf Club. He succeeds Kester Pierson as the winner of this annual event.

In Saturday's semi-finals, Shillaber won from Pierson on the 18th green, 2 up. Mdlman had reached the championship round with a 3-and-2 victory over Norm Schuele, Jr.

PRINCETON GIRLS WIN

At Virginia Tennis Event. From a field of almost 100 players, representing 25 schools, Princeton University's women's tennis team captured the team trophy at the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate held last week in Staunton, Va.

Representing Princeton were Marjory Gengler, who lost to Kathy Kraft, a USLTA Junior Wightman Cup player, in the finals in a four-hour match; Louise Gengler, Jane Kincaid and Helena Novakova. In three and one-half days of play, the four played 44 matches. "It was the most strenuous tournament I have ever witnessed in all my years in tennis," commented the team's coach, Eve Kraft.

Kincaid won the fourth place medal and Novakova, by popular vote of all the 98 participants, was presented with the sportsmanship trophy.

BOWLING NOTES

Dutch Neck Wins Rolloff. Dutch Neck is champion of the Tri-County Firemen's League.

Dutch Neck won the crown when it defeated KFD two games to none in a three-game rolloff. Members of the winning team are Stan Tatum, Earl McKnight, Charles Appelget, Mel Tindall, Dick Anderson and Wes Holman.

The winner of the Nassau League will be decided this week when Hinds, the first-half champion, meets Tiger Garage, which captured the second half by 11 points, in a rolloff.

In the final week, Pros Aeschbacher and Vince Baldino of Tiger rolled 218 and 200. Jim Shely of Princeton Aviation fashioned the high single game of 226.

Albert Petrella rolled 219, Otto Marcolini 210 and Tom Herrman, 201.

With two weeks to go in the A League, Rialto Barber Shop has a 62-58 edge over Princeton Market. Hesco Electric and Sherwin Williams are tied for third place at 56 apiece.

Rialto's Mike Pinelli put together a 608 series when he rolled a 247 on his final game. Bob Cifelli of Hesco rolled 192-225-184 — 601. Dick Older rolled 225, while Sam Lisi and Frank Delneso each had 221.

Others: Jerry Perpetua, 213; Jim Carter, 206; Tony Cifelli, 205; Larry McHugh, 204; Joe Procaccini, 203; and John Baldino, 201.

Eleanor Pinelli of Carousel was high in the Business Women's League with 192. Dail Forsyth had 184, Lillian Burrough 182, Linda Stiffler 181 (69 pins over average) and Marge Davison, 179.

Nassau Inn leads in the standings with 68 points. Rocky Hill Inn (62) and Tamasi (56) trail.

HORSE SHOW MAY 20

At Meadow Mouse Farm. Olympic riding will come to Princeton next Saturday, May 20.

That's the day the Meadow Mouse Farm Dressage Show on Cherry Hill Road will be held, starting at 9—rain or shine. Olympic tests are scheduled for late morning and early afternoon.

This will be the 12th annual show for Meadow Mouse and the first under new director Prudence Morgan. Miss Morgan is working closely with Major Dezo Szilngyi, the original director of the farm and manager of this year's show. For the past two years, Miss Morgan has studied and taught at Morven International Equestrian Institute in Leesburg, Va.

Spectator admission is $1, benefit of the Morven International Institute. Lunch and refreshments will be available on the grounds. Additional information is available from the show secretary, Mrs. Robert Strunsky, 924-2102.

STUDENT SHOOTER WINS

Highest Rifle Award. Kevin Mellan, 17, a high school senior who has been shooting with the Princeton Junior Rifle Club for the past two years, has earned his Distinguished Expert pin.

The National Rifle Association, in presenting Kevin with his citation, pin and medal, reported that "only a handful of shooters in the whole country earn this honor each year." It is the highest award given by the NRA.

The Princeton Junior Rifle Club is sponsored by the Citizen's Rifle and Revolver Club and the Princeton Patrolmen's Benevolent Association 130.

Surround yourself with trees, grass and history.

There's plenty of all three on what may be the highest spot between New York and Philadelphia. Certainly it's one of the most historic, if not the most beautiful. Just 15 homes will be custom built from your plans or ours about Greenacres Country Club Golf Course. Each will share in a sweep of common land... and in views and privacy all but vanished these days. Isn't it worth $50,000 or more?

A PIECE OF EARTH

Behind the oldest inhabited dwelling in the county, which I restored, lie eleven high acres. A green kingdom abounding in dogwood, pine, and cedar. From a tree-house (or 2nd story balcony) you can see miles of Hopewell Valley. There are ever-running springs to feed a pond for ducks, fish, or just looking. It is 8 miles to Princeton. The price is last year's, the terms generous, as low as 10% down. Of course, 3 miles closer to town, same price, you can have two acres, three-foot trees, a big lawn, and cars buzzing across your picture window. No brokers, no pressures. This is between people who believe that we did not inherit the earth but are just passing some time here, who have a right to enjoy it, and a duty to leave it, close as possible, as we found it. If interested call me at 466-0990.
